

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 2024

dailymail.co.uk

£1.10 85p to subscribers

SCAN TO SUBSCRIBE
AND SAVE

I'm thrilled that my husband gets on with my male best friend

... he'll never guess we've been lovers for 30 years

FEMAIL STARTS PAGE 31

FURY OVER REEVES RAID ON PRIVATE SECTOR PENSIONS

Experts blast Chancellor's plan to impose National Insurance on employers' pension contributions — while sparing public sector

LABOUR sparked fury last night over claims it is plotting a raid on private pensions.

Rachel Reeves was accused of planning a slew of tax hikes on private enterprise — while

By Hugo Duncan, John-Paul Ford Rojas and Jason Groves

showering the public sector with cash.

The Chancellor looks set to impose National Insurance on employers' pension contributions next week in a damaging move for millions. Yet state employees would be protected from the £15billion assault, as Ms Reeves struggles to make her Budget numbers add up.

Experts have dubbed the move a 'get-out-of-jail-free card' for the public sector while private workers suffer. And business leaders accused

Turn to Page 6

We'd planned to marry, reveals Liam's heartbroken girlfriend

SEE PAGE THREE