

My warning to Meghan: If you want your marriage to last, don't turn your husband into a 'plus one' — like I did

AMANDA PLATELL

FEMAIL MAGAZINE
Starts page 31

BUSINESS FURY AT LABOUR'S REVOLUTION FOR WORKERS

++ Right to sue for unfair dismissal from Day One ++ Flexible working to be 'default for all' ++ Red tape nightmare that'll kill jobs ++ So much for Starmer's growth agenda!

BUSINESS chiefs have reacted with outrage to Labour's landmark employment reforms.

Bosses say the biggest shake-up of workers' rights in a generation, which ministers will unveil today,

By Martin Beckford, Emily Hawkins and John Abiona

will be 'bad for jobs' and 'inject fear' into the workplace.

The new law will give nine million workers the right to launch unfair dismissal claims from their first day.

Flexible working, including working from home, will also be made the 'default for all' where possible.

Labour has claimed its reforms will offer a 'boom to the economy' as part of Sir Keir Starmer's growth agenda.

But there are fears the Bill could tie small firms up in red tape, causing

Turn to Page 2

SPECIAL REPORT

What IS the truth about Lucy Letby and the married doctor?

SEE PAGES
20-21