

Introducing your new favourite history podcast

QUEENS, KINGS & DASTARDLY THINGS

Listen now on Apple or Spotify

SEE
PAGES
2 & 25

SHAME OF THE CHILD RIOTERS

Some aged ELEVEN as prosecutors warn of terrorism charges

Musk brands PM 'two-tier Keir' amid row over riot policing

Now 2,000 officers braced for up to 30 flashpoints TONIGHT

By George Odling
Crime Correspondent

BRITAIN'S most senior prosecutor has warned it is 'deeply disturbing' to see children as young as 11 taking part in riots across the country.

Stephen Parkinson warned there could be lifelong consequences for young people involved in the violence.

The disorder is feared to stretch into a second week tonight, with more than 2,000 officers on stand-by for up to 30 demonstrations.

More than 400 people have been arrested so far, with terrorism charges considered for at least one suspected thug.

As immigration centres braced themselves for unrest, the war of words deepened between Sir Keir Starmer and Elon Musk yesterday.

The billionaire branded the Prime Minister 'two-tier Keir' in a jibe suggesting police were treating far-Right protesters more harshly than Muslims.

His comment came just one day after the X Turn to Page 4

Why shouldn't we women ogle Olympic hunks in trunks?

SALLY JONES

PAGES 22-23