After scandal of PM's free suits and spectacles,
now his wife is dragged into 'Wardrobegate'

WHY CAN'T MILLIONAIRE STARMERS BUY THEIR OWN CLOTHES?

SIR Keir Starmer was last night mired in a fresh scandal over clothes given to his wife by a Labour donor.

It emerged this weekend that Lord Alli – who is already at the centre of the 'passes for glasses' row – paid for high-end clothes, a personal shopper and garment alterations for Lady Starmer.

But the Prime Minister, who is thought to be worth around £3million, failed to declare the gifts. It comes less than a month after Lord Alli, who bought suits and spectacles worth £18,865 for Sir Keir, faced questions over being granted a rare No 10 security pass.

Conservatives have demanded an investigation into 'Wardrobegate',
