Exclusive: Nottingham stabbing victims' families 'sickened' to learn officers shared graphic details of injuries on WhatsApp in latest horrifying scandal

THE families of three murder victims have been left 'sickened' after graphic details of their injuries were shared to a police WhatsApp group – then forwarded to others.

An officer posted a message detailing the horrific injuries suffered by students Grace O'Malley-Kumar and Barnaby Webber and caretaker Ian Coates during Valdo Calocane's knife rampage in Nottingham last June.

Another officer, PC Matthew Gell, sent the 'distasteful' message to his wife and a friend, a gross misconduct hearing was told.

A source told the Mail that a shift WhatsApp group, which included PC Gell, was sent details of the injuries, as well as how the police were responding to the unfolding incident.

Speaking on behalf of the three families who lost loved ones, 19-year-old Barnaby's mother,
