

Why won't my husband's parents take down photos of his first wedding?

Secrets & Lives

Daily Mail

dailymail.co.uk

£1.10 85p to subscribers

SCAN TO SUBSCRIBE
AND SAVE

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 6, 2024

SEVEN pillars, SIX milestones, FIVE missions, THREE foundations – but not ONE firm target to cut migration. Our sketch writer endures...

Starmmer's bingo hall parade of buzzwords and political nerdspeak

By Quentin Letts

PINEWOOD film studios have, over the decades, seen their share of box-office flops and glass-jawed boobies who thought they were God's gift.

Now Sir Keir Starmer, the George Lazenby of prime ministers, had chosen the place for his Government's relaunch. 'Reset' was Downing Street's preferred term, but in movies they say 'take two'.

That's after the first attempt was a disaster, with the main actor pulling the door-handle off, fluffing his lines and stepping on his leading lady's hem, ripping her dress and leaving her starkers.

'Back to the top, please,' says the director. 'And Keir, darling, remember you're supposed to be prime minister, not a bloke come to read the meter.'

Some 200 Labour MPs, business people and reporters assembled for the event. We

Turn to Page 6

Grinning just before killing, the Manhattan CEO assassin

SEE PAGES 4-5

