

How the Birkin became the must-have bag... for elite burglary gangs

PAGES
22-23

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW

RISHI: KEIR ONLY WANTS VOTES AT 16 TO 'ENTRENCH HIS POWER'

PM warns on Starmer's plans for electoral system, Brexit and 'highest taxes in history'

Ian McKellen, 85, in hospital dash after falling off West End stage

SEE PAGE 5

KEIR Starmer will try to rig the voting system to 'entrench his power' for years, Rishi Sunak said yesterday.

The Prime Minister said the Labour leader's unprincipled

By Jason Groves
Political Editor

bid to lower the voting age to 16 was designed to be 'electorally helpful to him' by locking out the Tories for years.

Mr Sunak also warned that if Sir Keir was handed a 'blank cheque' by the electorate, he is likely to revive a pledge to allow EU citizens to vote in the UK's general elections for the first time.

The PM's intervention came in a major interview with the Daily Mail in which he signalled that the tax divide would be central to

Turn to Page 6

Legend: Sir Ian as John Falstaff in his show Player Kings