

BORIS: I'd sign up to fight for King and country. Yes, Sah! PAGE 19

Daily Mail

V1

SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 2024 £1.50 £1.20 to subscribers

His and Hers plan for a

BETTER NIGHT'S SLEEP

IN JUST FOUR WEEKS

BY MICHAEL MOSLEY

PAGES 50-52

CAMILLA'S SMILE THAT SAYS: THE KING'S FINE

Relief: Camilla after leaving the King's bedside yesterday

QUEEN Camilla smiled with undisguised relief as she left the King's hospital bedside yesterday.

Charles, 75, was said to be doing well following prostate surgery – and

By Rebecca English
Royal Editor

even ready to tackle paperwork from his bed in the private hospital.

Accompanied by his wife he was admitted to the London Clinic at 9am after they were driven together from Clarence House in a low-key convoy without police outriders.

Camilla, 76, insisted on being by her husband's side as he was admitted for a corrective procedure on an enlarged prostate. And she remained there until he was safely out of surgery and back in bed. The King is likely to be kept in for two nights. As she left the central London hospital at 3.10pm, Camilla smiled broadly at waiting cameramen and said: 'He's fine, thank you.'

There were calls from well-wishers shouting: 'We love you lots.' She told

Turn to Page 4