ANGER OVER ELON MUSK CLAIM UK 'CIVIL WAR IS INEVITABLE'

Billionaire in row with PM over riots as tech firms are accused of 'giving hate a platform'

SIR Keir Starmer and Elon Musk were last night embroiled in a war of words over the race riots raging in Britain.

Downing Street rebuked the owner of X, formerly Twitter, for using his platform to claim that 'civil war is inevitable'.

The Prime Minister's spokesman said there was 'no justification for comments like that'. A few hours later, Mr Musk – the richest man in the world worth more than $200billion – criticised Sir Keir directly by responding to a video posted by the PM stressing attacks on mosques and Muslims would not be tolerated. Mr
