

FREE
VOUCHER
INSIDE

The Mail

ON SUNDAY

DECEMBER 17, 2023

£2 £1.80 to subscribers

£5 OFF when you spend £30 at WHSmith

SEE PAGE
74

*Terms and Exclusions apply

As we reveal Labour candidate sells children's holidays to 'unsafe' Rwanda, PM delivers starkest warning yet

RISHI: ILLEGAL MIGRANTS WILL OVERWHELM UK

By Glen Owen
and Anna Mikhailova

RISHI SUNAK has warned that Britain faces being 'overwhelmed' by illegal migration which will 'destroy' our democracy if radical measures are not taken now.

In his strongest words yet on the challenges posed by porous borders, the Prime Minister used a speech in Italy to demand a 'Thatcherite' approach to curbing illegal migration – and to call for international human rights laws to be changed to stop them being exploited.

Meanwhile, Labour has been accused of hypocrisy after The Mail on Sunday discovered one of its Election candidates organises children's holidays to Rwanda – a nation party chiefs maintain is too unsafe to send illegal migrants to.

Sam Rushworth, who has been picked to stand in the target seat of Bishop Auckland, founded a travel firm called African Dreams, which describes Rwanda as a 'safe and supporting environment' where children as young as 13 can enjoy an adventure holiday. However, Shadow Home Secretary Yvette Cooper has said it is 'shameful' to send asylum seekers there.

Following a turbulent week in which Mr Sunak faced down a Commons revolt over

ROYAL EXCLUSIVE

Why George looks set to go to his mum's old school

SEE PAGE 7

Turn to Page 8 >>