NOW BAN TRANS WOMEN FROM FEMALE SPORTS

In impassioned article for the Mail, Culture Secretary calls on sports bodies to ringfence elite competitions

EXCLUSIVE

TRANSGENDER athletes should be banned from competing against women, the Culture Secretary told sporting chiefs yesterday.

Lucy Frazer said officials had a duty to give female athletes a 'sporting chance' because male-born rivals have an 'indisputable edge'.

She summoned representatives of sports including cricket and football to a meeting yesterday to urge them to stop transgender athletes competing against women at the elite level.

Her intervention follows a landmark review of NHS gender identity services for children and young people that raised major concerns about the country's approach to transgender issues.

Writing for the Mail, Ms Frazer says sports governing bodies need to set out an 'unambiguous position' on the subject.

She insists that despite government
