

*Do YOU have a problem with drink?
Take our quiz before you answer No*

FEMAIL MAGAZINE: STARTS PAGE 29

Daily Mail

THURSDAY, APRIL 25, 2024

dailymail.co.uk

£1.10

Builders spark 6-mile rampage of terrified cavalry horses

Bloodied: Charging through rush-hour central London, two of five Household Cavalry horses spooked by noise from builders yesterday. The fleeing animals left drivers and pedestrians terrified as they careered through the streets for up to six miles. All the animals were safe and in the care of vets last night
See Pages 8 & 9

SCHOOLGIRL STABS TEACHER IN NECK

By Rebecca Camber, Richard Marsden and Jacob Dirnhuber

A TEACHER was lucky to be alive last night after she was stabbed in the neck by a girl during a playground knife rampage.

Armed with a flick-knife, the Year 9 pupil is said to have targeted the teacher before a fellow pupil and

Year Nine pupil held for attempted murder over horrific flick-knife attack in playground at break another teacher intervened. A colleague then bravely stepped in to disarm the schoolgirl.

The horrifying attack, being treated by police as attempted murder, unfolded in front of terrified pupils who fled screaming as the girl, aged 13 or 14, lashed out at a Welsh secondary school.

Footage captured on a pupil's phone showed heroic rugby teacher Darrel Campbell overpowering the assailant, restraining her in an armlock and pulling her back from one of the victims, who crumpled to the ground.

In the 15-second clip posted on social

Turn to Pages 4 & 5