

A LIFE CHANGING NEW BOOK FROM PAUL McKENNA
PAGES 26-28

How you can think yourself successful in SEVEN SIMPLE STEPS

■ Sectioned FOUR TIMES under the Mental Health Act

■ He left a student so scared she leapt from her window

■ As Nottingham triple killer faces court sentencing...

IN GOD'S NAME, WHY WASN'T HE STOPPED?

A LITANY of missed chances left a paranoid schizophrenic free to roam a city before he knifed three people to death and tried to kill three more.

Valdo Calocane had been in and out of a mental health

By Andy Dolan

hospital for more than three years and a warrant was out for his arrest when his killing spree brought terror to Nottingham last summer.

The NHS, police, university officials and even his employer missed at least eight opportunities to deal with the 32-year-old before he 'brutally and mercilessly' killed first-year university students Barnaby Webber and Grace O'Malley-Kumar, both 19.

A court yesterday heard he then 'calmly' walked across the city to ambush and kill school caretaker Ian Coates, 65, as he travelled to work. Flatmates described Calocane as a 'ticking timebomb' and gave him the nickname 'serial killer' because of the loner's unstable

Turn to Page 7

HOCKEY STAR VICTIM

Talented: Grace O'Malley-Kumar had represented England