Labour pledged to make us all wealthier. Now inflation's rising again, the bond market's in turmoil — and the Bank of England says growth will slump to 0% after Reeves's ruinous Budget

NOW LOOK WHO'S REALLY CRASHING THE ECONOMY

RACHEL Reeves was yesterday accused of killing growth as the Bank of England warned the economy was grinding to a halt.

Before Labour took office, the economy was the fastest-growing in the G7 — and going 'gang-busters', according to the Office for National Statistics.

But it now faces a period of stagnation. In a new forecast, the Bank downgraded its growth outlook for the last three months of this year to zero, from a previous prediction of 0.3 per cent.

It is the latest evidence that the Chancellor's £25 billion National Insurance hike is crushing business and
