LABOUR'S £400 TAX HIT TO YOUR FAMILY HOLIDAY

That's what typical family will pay in air passenger duty to fly long-haul as analysis reveals full impact of Reeves's huge hike

FAMILIES will be hit with the highest ever tax rates on flights in Labour's multi-billion-pound raid on holidaymakers.

Analysis shows air fare levies for a family of four to popular destinations such as Walt Disney World in Florida will surge above £400 for the first time after the hike.

The finding comes ahead of Sunshine Saturday next weekend, when millions will buy foreign breaks on what is traditionally the busiest day of the year for bookings.

Critics said it makes a mockery of the Government's claim that it has not raised taxes on 'working people' and that it is prioritising economic growth, given the move is set to hammer
