

ALAS

Vine & Hitchens

Britain's most combative columnists go toe-to-toe in unmissable new podcast

APPLE OR SPOTIFY

Daily Mail

dailymail.co.uk

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 2025

£1.10 85p to subscribers

SCAN TO SUBSCRIBE
AND SAVE

HISTORIC WHITE HOUSE SUMMIT

On the eve of PM's critical meeting with Trump, Labour repeatedly fails to deny that a significant chunk of its increase in military spending will fund airbase sell-out

Starmmer 'set to blow defence billions on Chagos surrender'

SIR Keir Starmer 'all but confessed' that Labour's defence cash boost would be used to fund the Chagos Islands giveaway, it was claimed yesterday.

Just a day after announcing the

By Harriet Line
Deputy Political Editor

major increase to the military budget, the Prime Minister refused to rule out handing some of the money to Mauritius.

Yesterday he flew to Washington for crucial talks with Donald Trump. He will warn the President that Europe could descend into war if America does not provide a military 'backstop' for British and European troops deployed as peacekeepers in Ukraine.

He will urge Mr Trump not to abandon Ukraine and give Vladimir Putin the opportunity to attack it again.

They are also expected to discuss the Chagos deal which has already come under fire from some of Mr Trump's Republican allies. Labour is preparing to cede sovereignty of the Indian Ocean islands to Mauritius, but lease back the US-UK military base on Diego Garcia at a reported cost of almost £9billion over the 99-year term of the agreement.

On Tuesday, the Prime Minister

Turn to Page 6