

The Equal-Custody
Experiment

REVIEW

WSJ

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL WEEKEND

New York's
Best Culinary Adventure

OFF DUTY

DOW JONES | News Corp  SATURDAY/SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 6 - 7, 2025 ~ VOL. CCLXXXVI NO. 57 WSJ.com ★★★★★ $6.00

What's News

Business & Finance

- ◆ U.S. job growth continued to slow down in August, with just 22,000 new jobs added, a sign that the labor market is deteriorating markedly. A1
- ◆ Tesla's board is asking investors to approve a new pay package for Elon Musk that could deliver to him as much as $1 trillion in stock over the next decade. A1
- ◆ The S&P 500 and Dow declined 0.3% and 0.5%, respectively, while the Nasdaq fell less than 0.1%. B10
- ◆ OpenAI is working with Broadcom to develop custom AI chips, a move that could help the rollout of new versions of ChatGPT. B9
- ◆ AI company Anthropic agreed to pay at least $1.5 billion to settle a copyright infringement lawsuit over its use of pirated books to train large-language models. B9
- ◆ The EU fined Google nearly $3.5 billion for abusing the dominance of its advertising-technology tools. B9
- ◆ A federal judge in Florida dismissed Newsmax's anti-trust lawsuit against Fox News, but kept the door open for Newsmax to refile its complaint. B10
- ◆ Robinhood Markets will be added to the S&P 500 index on Sept. 22, along with AppLovin and Emcor. B10

World-Wide

- ◆ The U.S. carried out its largest single-site immigration raid ever, detaining some 475 foreigners at a Hyundai Motor battery plant in Georgia on Thursday. A1
- ◆ Robert F. Kennedy Jr. plans to announce that pregnant women's use of an over-the-counter pain medication is potentially linked to autism in a report. A3
- ◆ Putin said Russia would view any foreign troops in Ukraine as legitimate targets for its forces, a day after European and U.S. officials met to discuss security guarantees for Ukraine. A6
- ◆ Texas Gov. Greg Abbott signed legislation barring summer camps from having cabins in flood plains. A3
- ◆ New York City Mayor Eric Adams has fielded proposals for a lucrative career in the private sector or a job in the Trump administration in exchange for ending his campaign for a second term, but insisted he isn't dropping his re-election bid. A4
- ◆ Rebels in the Democratic Republic of Congo committed what might have been war crimes and crimes against humanity, the United Nations said. A6
- ◆ Angela Rayner, U.K. deputy prime minister, resigned after admitting she underpaid tax on the purchase of a new home. A6

NOONAN

We need to know history,
especially now A13

CONTENTS	Obituaries..... C6
Books..... C7-12	Opinion..... A11-13
Business & Finance..... B9	Sports..... A10
Food..... D6,8	Style & Fashion D2-3
Gear & Gadgets..... D13	Travel..... D9-10
Heard on Street..... B12	U.S. News..... A2-5
Markets..... B10	World News..... A6,8

© 2025 Dow Jones & Company, Inc.
All Rights Reserved

Labor Market Slows to a Crawl

Weak August hiring, loss of jobs in June all but clinches a Fed rate cut this month

By RACHEL LOUISE ENSIGN
AND JUSTIN LAHART

U.S. job growth continued to slow down in August, with just 22,000 new jobs added—a sign that the labor market is deteriorating markedly and all but sealing the case that the robust hiring of the postpandem years is over. The report practically guarantees a Federal Reserve rate cut this month. But beyond that, Fed officials are likely to debate whether to continue with consecutive cuts through their remaining meetings this year, rather than reductions every other meeting, as previously anticipated. The central bank meets again in October and December. Friday's report adds to a summer of slow hiring and points to a stagnant job market that has lengthened job searches, shut young people out of employment and increased unemployment for Black workers.

The Labor Department's report also highlighted weakness from earlier in the year. The government revised its numbers from previous months and said that the economy lost a net 13,000 jobs

Please turn to page A2

- ◆ Unemployment is rising among old and young..... A2
- ◆ Bonds rally, stocks drop on jobs data..... B10

U.S. nonfarm payrolls, change from a month earlier

Note: Seasonally adjusted. July and August 2025 data are preliminary.
Source: Labor Department

Israel Targets High-Rise Amid Gaza City Offensive

RUN FOR IT: A Palestinian flees Friday as the Mushtaha Tower collapses after being blown up by Israel. Israel said it targeted the building, which had been damaged in earlier attacks, because it was being used by Hamas for surveillance. A8

U.S. Raids Hyundai Plant in Georgia

The U.S. carried out its largest single-site immigration raid ever, detaining some 475 foreigners at a Hyundai Motor

By Jiyoung Sohn,
Ryan Felton and
Timothy W. Martin

battery plant under construction in Georgia on Thursday and injecting fresh risk to overseas firms considering U.S. investment to satisfy President Trump's trade demands. The factory near Savannah is set to make electric-vehicle batteries in a joint venture between Hyundai and fellow South Korean firm LG Energy Solution. The broader $7.6 billion EV-production site there represents the largest manufacturing project in Georgia's history. Now it is where two of Trump's key policies—cracking down on illegal immigration and rebuilding U.S. manufacturing—have collided. Those arrested had illegally crossed the border, entered through a visa-waiver program that prohibited them from working, or had overstayed their visas, said Steven Schrank, a special agent in charge of Homeland Security Investigations, at a news conference in Atlanta. According to the search warrant, unsealed on Friday, the initial targets were four Hispanic workers. The investigation continues; no criminal charges had been filed as of Friday, he said. "Those who exploit our

Please turn to page A4

Tesla Proposes $1 Trillion For Musk

By THEO FRANCIS
AND GARETH VIPERS

Tesla's board is asking investors to approve a new pay package for Chief Executive Elon Musk that could deliver to him as much as $1 trillion in stock over the next decade. The proposed deal would allow Musk—already the world's wealthiest person—to receive installments of shares if Tesla hits a series of market-capitalization and business milestones, according to a securities filing published Friday. The maximum payout would give him an additional 12% stake in Tesla, if the company reaches a market value of $8.5 trillion—nearly eight times its current valuation. At that level, the proposed award would be valued at slightly more than $1 trillion, or about the same as the company's entire current market capitalization. Tesla's board said the unprecedented pay package is intended to keep Musk focused on the electric carmaker. The Tesla brand and its sales have taken a hit from Musk's political activities and now-frayed alliance with President Trump. This spring, Tesla board members reached out to executive search firms to work on a formal process for finding Tesla's next CEO and some pressed the longtime leader to spend more time at the company, The Wall Street Journal previously reported.

Please turn to page A4

In This Corner, the White House

By ALEX LEARY

WASHINGTON—Fighter weigh-ins on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial? Mixed martial artists warming up in the White House? An octagonal combat cage on the South Lawn? Now that President Trump has signed off on a slate of Ul-time Fighting Championship cage fights on the White House grounds the month before the nation's 250th birthday next summer, people familiar with the discussions said these are some of the arrangements being considered. One early idea was to have the fighters emerge from the Oval Office and walk through a colonnade and into a cage set up in the Rose Garden. But Trump and others want a bigger show with more spectators, so the event was moved to the South Lawn. A UFC team has already surveyed the grounds. "This will be one of the greatest and most historic

Please turn to page A5

GOP Renegade Escalates War With Trump

Massie seeks more records on Epstein

By SIOBHAN HUGHES

WASHINGTON—GOP Rep. Thomas Massie, a major thorn in President Trump's side, wanted a peace agreement. As the House struggled to finish Trump's "big, beautiful" tax-and-spending bill, the Kentucky libertarian was pulled into a room off the House floor for a meeting convened by House Speaker Mike Johnson. The president was on the speakerphone. All year long, Trump had been attacking Massie for breaking with Republicans. Now he needed Massie's vote. Massie told the president he wanted the ads pummeling him on Kentucky television to stop. "I want the same deal you gave Iran:

Quit bombing me," Massie recalled telling Trump. When Trump asked who was running the ads, Massie said the mastermind was Chris LaCivita, a top political strategist for Trump. "Well, he works for me," Massie recalled Trump responding. "I'll tell him to quit." Massie voted to let the bill advance to a House vote, where it passed. Nearly two months later, though, the attack ads against Massie—funded by wealthy Trump donors—haven't stopped, and Trump is openly calling for a Republican challenger to take Massie out. A White House official said the president didn't commit to stopping the ads for good, but only discussed pausing them. The official

Please turn to page A9

A Politician's Treasonous Act: Messing With Holidays in France

* * *

Leader's plan to cut days rankles French, who take their paid vacations seriously

By NOEMIE BISSEBIE
AND STACY MEICHTRY

PARIS—If French Prime Minister François Bayrou loses his job in a confidence vote Monday, it will be due in no small part to his willingness to fiddle with a cornerstone of Gallic life: public holidays. The freedom that French workers have to take extended breaks from the office has become as core to the national identity as pungent cheese and fine wine. So when Bayrou proposed that France shave two holidays from the calendar—Easter Monday and May 8, which marks Nazi Germany's surrender to Allies—his opponents branded the idea as bordering on treason. Far-right lawmaker Jordan Bardella called it "a direct attack on our history, our roots, and on work-

Please turn to page A9

EXCHANGE

CORE ISSUE
Inside Spotify's high-stakes fight to take down Apple. B2