

Picture: ZIV KOREN/POLARIS IMAGES

Kidnap
ordeal: Romi Gonen and
Emily Damari

EXCLUSIVE

'We knew that as long as we were together, we'd make it'

Hostages who survived Hamas describe their astonishing bond

PAGES 18-19

After London court appearance, he flies to meet war wounded

HARRY'S SECRET TRIP TO UKRAINE

Concern: Prince Harry with a Ukrainian war victim yesterday

PRINCE Harry yesterday made a surprise visit to Ukraine to meet wounded war victims.

The Duke of Sussex travelled to

By Katherine Lawton

the Superhumans Centre, an orthopaedic clinic that treats and rehabilitates both soldiers and civilians.

Harry's trip to the war-torn country came after he spent two days at the Court of Appeal in London fighting to have his full taxpayer-funded security restored.

The clinic in the city of Lviv offers free prosthetics, reconstructive surgery and psychological help to those injured in the war with Russia. The prince, who served ten years in the Army, has made helping injured soldiers one of his most cherished causes.

He founded the Invictus Games in

Turn to Page 5