

DAILY NEWS

NEW YORK'S HOMETOWN NEWSPAPER

CANADIAN CLUB

President Trump's tariffs on some Canadian goods stirred Canada to say it would increase electricity costs to the U.S. By late Tuesday, Canadian leaders had backed off their threat, and Trump held off plan to double the U.S. tariffs.

SEE PAGES 6-7

- Canada backs down on electric hikes; Trump tables threat to double tariffs
- Moves stir market turmoil, recession fear
- Adams says tariffs are a federal issue