Hamas accepts, Israel rejects US' Gaza ceasefire proposal

PLAN CALLS FOR RELEASE OF 10 HOSTAGES, 70-DAY TRUCE

GAZA CITY

A Hamas source said the group had accepted a Gaza ceasefire proposal presented by mediators that reportedly involves the liberation of 10 hostages in two batches and a 70-day truce.

According to reports, Israel has turned down the proposal. A senior Israeli official confirmed the rejection, calling the offer unacceptable, reports said. "The proposal received by Israel cannot be accepted by any responsible government," the official stated, without providing further details.

Earlier a Palestinian source told AFP: "Hamas has agreed to the new proposal by US envoy Steve Witkoff, which the movement received from mediators," adding that "during the truce, negotiations would begin on a permanent ceasefire with American guarantees". The outline of the new potential deal comes as Israel ramps up its offensive in the Palestinian territory, and follows previous rounds of talks that have failed to reach a breakthrough ever since a two-month ceasefire fell apart in mid-March.

Witkoff's vision

"The new proposal, which is considered a development of the path and vision of US envoy Steve Witkoff, includes the release of 10 living Israeli hostages held by Hamas in exchange for a 70-day truce, a partial withdrawal from the Gaza Strip (and) the release of a number of Palestinian prisoners," the source close to negotiations told AFP.

The source added that mediators presented the proposal "over the past few days", without specifying whether it came from the United States, Egypt or Qatar, all of which have been involved in the ceasefire talks throughout the war.

The proposal would involve the release of "five living Israeli hostages during the first week of the agreement's implementation, and five others before the end of the truce period".

A second Palestinian source familiar with the talks told AFP that "Israel and Hamas will study the proposal and both sides will respond to the mediators".

Meanwhile, Israeli strikes pounded the Gaza Strip early yesterday, killing dozens, including people sleeping in a school-turned-shelter, local health officials said.

UAE job seekers warned of recruitment scams

Scammers often lure job seekers with promise of high salary for minimal effort

BY ALI AL HAMMADI
Reporter

The Ministry of Human Resources and Emiratization (MoHRE) has warned job seekers to stay alert against recruitment scams that often use misleading phrases such as "Work from home," "No experience needed," and "Flexible schedule" to deceive individuals seeking employment.

With job hunting increasingly shifting online, the risk of falling victim to fraud has also grown. Scammers often lure job seekers with promises of high salaries for minimal effort, unclear job descriptions, or offers that bypass interviews and qualifications. One major red flag is being asked to pay upfront fees for things like application processing, background checks, or work supplies.

Official offer letter

To help protect workers from falling into these traps, MoHRE has made it clear that any job offer for employment in the UAE must be accompanied by an official offer letter issued through the ministry's system. This document is required before a work visa can be issued. "Job seekers should never agree to pay money to secure a job," MoHRE officials said. "Genuine employers cover all recruitment costs, and a valid job offer will always be verified through the ministry."

Working on a tourist or visit visa is illegal in the UAE and can lead to penalties. All employment must be formalised through

MOHRE GUIDELINES

- Ensure a verified job offer: Every legitimate offer must come through MoHRE.
- Verify the offer: You can check your offer's authenticity using the MoHRE job offer number online or by contacting the UAE embassy in your home country.
- Never accept employment on a visit visa: Wait for an approved work visa before starting any job.
- Avoid paying recruitment fees: UAE labour laws place full responsibility for recruitment costs on the employer.
- Check company legitimacy: Use the National Economic Register to confirm the company is registered in the UAE.
- Contact MoHRE: If unsure, reach out to the ministry by calling +971 6802 7666 or emailing ask@mohre.gov.ae.

MoHRE and followed by the issuance of a valid work visa.

For visas issued in Dubai, verification can be done through the General Directorate of Residency and Foreigners Affairs (GDRFA). For other emirates, use the ICP's eChannels platform. Tourist visas should be obtained from official sources like UAE-based airlines, hotels, or licensed travel agencies.

MoHRE also provides services for issuing and renewing employment contracts through its digital platforms. Employers must submit approved documents, and contracts must be signed by both parties. Work permits may be renewed 60 days before expiration, and workers in certain skill levels will receive contracts through awareness centres.

Robots to help shoppers navigate UAE malls soon

Avatar-style robots used in live Dubai trial

DUBAI

BY JUSTIN VARGHESE

The future of shopping in the UAE is getting a high-tech twist: Shoppers visiting City Centre Mirdif may soon find themselves guided not just by mall maps or help desks, but by avatar-style robots designed to offer real-time assistance.

In a first-of-its-kind collaboration, Dubai Future Foundation (DFF) has teamed up with Majid Al Futtaim, the UAE's leading retail group, to explore how robotics can blend into everyday retail life. As part of the pilot, two robots are now roaming the mall floors, helping visitors find their way. The aim is to learn — from real-time shopper feedback — how robots can improve the retail experience in ways that are practical, people-first, and scalable.
