UAE first to approve new oral breast cancer drug

DUBAI
BY SAJILA SASEENDRAN
Chief Reporter

The UAE has become the first country in the world to approve a new oral treatment for a specific type of advanced or metastatic breast cancer, offering renewed hope to patients whose tumours have stopped responding to hormone therapy.

The Emirates Drug Establishment (EDE) has approved AstraZeneca's Etcamah®, an oral targeted therapy for patients with advanced or metastatic breast cancer who have developed an ESRI gene mutation. It is a genetic change that can occur while a patient is already on endocrine (hormone) therapy, effectively making that treatment less effective.

According to EDE, Etcamah® works by blocking and degrading oestrogen receptors in breast cancer cells. In certain tumours, these receptors act like a fuel switch, driving cancer growth and spread.

By shutting down and dismantling those receptors, the drug cuts off that signal. It is taken orally and used in combination with a CDK4/6 inhibitor, a class of drugs already widely used in breast cancer treatment.

The active ingredient, camizestrant, is a next-generation oral selective oestrogen receptor degrader (ngSERD) and full oestrogen receptor antagonist. It is the latest evolution in a line of treatments designed to target hormone-driven breast cancers.

TRUMP VOWS 'VERY HARD' STRIKES, THREATENS TO SEIZE KHARG ISLAND

UAE condemns renewed Iranian attacks amid spiralling tensions

US President Donald Trump yesterday threatened to launch another wave of attacks on Iran and vowed to take control of the country's key oil infrastructure, signalling a major escalation as fighting between Washington and Tehran entered a second straight day.

"The United States will be hitting Iran... VERY HARD TONIGHT," Trump wrote on his Truth Social platform.

He went further, declaring that Washington would eventually seize Iran's oil export facilities.

"At some point in the not too distant future, we will be taking Kharg Island, and other oil infrastructure points, and assume total control of their Oil and Gas Markets," Trump said.

Kharg Island is the heart of Iran's oil export industry, handling about 90 per cent of the country's crude exports and serving as a vital source of revenue for Tehran.

Trump's remarks came as the United States and Iran exchanged strikes for a second consecutive day, raising fears that a fragile ceasefire could collapse completely and plunge the region back into full-scale conflict.

Iran's Foreign Ministry said the latest US attacks had effectively rendered the ceasefire

■ An 11-year-old girl suffered minor injuries after debris from intercepted drones fell on residential areas in Bahrain, setting vehicles on fire and damaging homes in Hamad Town and the capital, Manama, the Interior Ministry said yesterday.

"meaningless", while warning of unspecified consequences.

More intense strikes

American strikes overnight appeared broader and more intense than previous attacks, targeting Iranian surveillance systems, communications networks and air-defence assets, according to US Central Command.

Iran responded with fresh missile and drone attacks targeting countries hosting US military bases, including Kuwait, Bahrain and Jordan.

In Bahrain, an 11-year-old girl suffered minor injuries after debris from intercepted drones fell in residential areas, damaging homes and vehicles, authorities said. Kuwait's military said its air defences had intercepted 24 Iranian drones over the past 48 hours.

The UAE strongly condemned the renewed treacherous Iranian attacks targeting Bahrain, Kuwait and Jordan. In a statement, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs described the missile and drone attacks as a "flagrant violation" of the sovereignty of the three countries and a threat to regional security and stability.

The ministry reaffirmed the UAE's full solidarity with Bahrain, Kuwait and Jordan, and its support for all measures aimed at safeguarding their security and stability.

Emaar Properties has revealed plans for a major new urban development in Dubai with a total investment value of Dh200 billion, marking one of the largest projects in the company's history.

The developer said the upcoming project will span more than 4.5 million square metres of gross floor area and is being designed to accommodate close to 150,000 residents.

The masterplan will be organised across five interconnected districts, each serving a distinct residential, commercial and life-style function.

Emaar described the development as a next-generation urban destination that will place technology, mobility and connectivity at the centre of community design.

The project will incorporate advanced digital infrastructure, intelligent building systems and integrated public services aimed at streamlining everyday life for residents.

Soft mobility networks

A key feature of the development is its adoption of the "20-minute city" concept, where essential services and daily needs can be reached within a short travel time. The district will include soft mobility networks, electric vehicle-friendly routes and digitally enabled community management systems.

The company said the project is intended to support Dubai's continued growth while reinforcing its position as a global destination for investment, business and high-quality urban living.

Mohamed Alabbar, Founder of Emaar Properties, said the development reflects the company's long-term confidence in the UAE's economic future.

"This development reflects our deep confidence in the future of the UAE and our belief in the visionary leadership that continues to create an environment where ambition, innovation and bold ideas can thrive. This is Emaar at its most ambitious, and Dubai at its most inspiring," he said.
