The iconic Dubai Creek is set to get a eight-lane bridge to ease traffic around Bur Dubai, Dubai's Roads and Transport Authority (RTA) revealed yesterday after awarding the Dh786 million contract. Spanning 1,425 metres, it will feature four lanes in each direction and be able to handle 16,000 vehicles per hour. The bridge will rise 18.5 metres above the creek and allow vessels to pass through a channel of 75 metres. It include a pedestrian and cycling path with elevators for easy access. Connecting the Infinity Bridge with the Port Rashid Development Area, the new bridge will also link Dubai Islands, Dubai Maritime City and Port Rashid. The bridge is part of a plan to create direct access points to Dubai Islands from the Bur Dubai side.

Additional surface roads will connect the bridge to existing routes in Bur Dubai and Dubai Islands. Part of the Al Shindagha Corridor Development, this project aims to improve traffic flow in Deira and Bur Dubai, under a Dh6 billion partnership between RTA and Dubai Holding, said Mattar Al Tayer, Director-General and Chairman of the Board of Executive Directors at RTA. Al Tayer added: "This project represents the second contract under the project to build entry and exit points for Dubai Islands. In collaboration with Dubai Holding, RTA completed a project in 2020 that involved constructing three bridges spanning 1.6km."

Protesters assail Trump, Musk in rallies

Protests organised by over 150 groups at 1,200 locations

WASHINGTON

Crowds of demonstrators took to the streets in cities across all 50 states on Saturday, voicing anger over President Donald Trump's policies in what has become the largest coordinated protest since the start of his administration.

The "Hands Off!" demonstrations — organised by over 150 groups including civil rights advocates, labour unions, LG-BTQ+ supporters, and veterans — spanned more than 1,200 locations, from Manhattan to Anchorage. The rallies remained largely peaceful, with no immediate reports of arrests. Protesters criticised the administration's sweeping actions on immigration, government downsizing, and human rights. In cities like

Portland, Los Angeles, and Seattle, marchers carried signs reading "Fight the oligarchy" and condemned cuts to health programs, mass deportations, the rollback of transgender protections, and plans to close Social Security offices. The demonstrations aimed to reignite momentum for the opposition movement in response to the rapid policy shifts during Trump's early weeks in office. — Agencies
