

Fat jabs too expensive? Try a new twist on 'retro diets' with results in SEVEN DAYS!

INSPIRE

STARTS PAGE 25

NINE OUT OF 10 GPs CALL FOR NHS PROSTATE SCREENING PROGRAMME

Hundreds of lives would be saved by initial targeting of men at highest risk, say experts

Elizabeth's all white at the Oliviers

SEE PAGE 9

Leading lady: Actress Elizabeth Debicki at the Royal Albert Hall in London last night

Daily Mail CAMPAIGN
END NEEDLESS PROSTATE DEATHS

FAMILY doctors overwhelmingly support the Mail's campaign for a national prostate cancer screening programme, a landmark poll reveals.

A near-unanimous 94 per cent of

By Shaun Wooller Health Editor

GPs say the Government should roll out the life-saving checks, initially targeting high-risk men.

With prostate cancer now more common than breast cancer, bringing in screening is likely to save hundreds of

Turn to Page 6