STARMER 'GUILTY AS ANYONE' OVER GROOMING GANGS

Former detective blasts PM as calls for Oldham inquiry grow

By Jason Groves
and Rory Tingle

KEIR Starmer is as 'guilty as anyone' over failures to tackle grooming gangs, a former detective claimed last night.

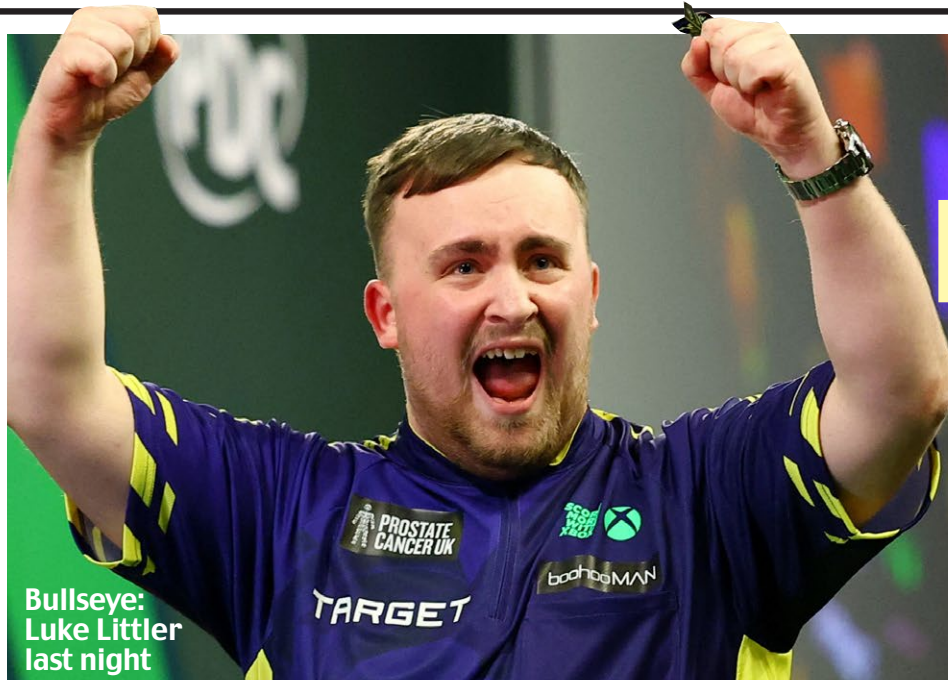

As pressure mounted on the Government to deliver a public inquiry into the scandal, whistleblower Maggie Oliver said she had no faith in the Prime Minister's desire to get to the truth.

Ms Oliver, who helped expose the failure to tackle paedophile gangs in Rochdale, intervened after Labour blocked calls for a public inquiry into rape and sexual abuse by gangs in neighbouring Oldham.

It came as Sir Keir was drawn into an extraordinary public spat with Elon Musk over his handling of the scandal during his five years as Director of Public Prosecutions.

The world's richest man said the Prime
