Wizz Air to exit Abu Dhabi operations

DUBAI

Wizz Air will stop all Wizz Air Abu Dhabi flights starting September 1, due to ongoing engine problems, regional tensions, and regulatory hurdles.

These issues have made it harder to keep costs low for the Hungary-based carrier, so it is shifting its focus back to its main markets in Europe.

The airline said yesterday that it's decision to exit Abu Dhabi follows a "comprehensive reassessment of market dynamics, operational challenges, and geopolitical developments in the Middle East", including:

■ Ongoing engine performance issues in hot climates, affecting flight reliability.

■ Geopolitical tensions leading to repeated airspace closures and reduced passenger demand.

■ Regulatory barriers that have limited growth opportunities in key markets.

Dubai 7th biggest wealth hub in the world; tops Middle East

EMIRATE RISES FIVE PLACES AS IT ATTRACTS HIGH-NET-WORTH INDIVIDUALS

Dubai has been ranked as the seventh biggest wealth hub in the world for high-net-worth individuals (HNWIs), up from 12th last year, according to the Julius Baer Global Wealth and Lifestyle Report 2025. The rise makes Dubai the highest-ranked city in the Middle East and reflects its continued growth as a hub for luxury living, business, and innovation.

With the average increase in currency prices in Dubai just 1 per cent, the report highlights a sharp increase in demand for high-end goods and services — particularly in cars and residential property, which saw significant price spikes over the past year. This rise in big-ticket spending was offset by price stability across several lifestyle categories.

The surge in business and leisure travel was a key contributor to lifestyle cost increases. According to Julius Baer, the appetite for luxury experiences remains high in the Middle East. HNWIs in the region continue to invest heavily in premium hotels, luxury menswear, fine-dining, and high-end tech and fashion, including smartphones and handbags.

The report adds weight to Dubai's positioning as a long-term residence for global elites. Property sales values in 2024 rose 27 per cent year-on-year, and the city's HNWI population has grown by 102 per cent over the past decade, according to Henley & Partners. "The momentum of millionaires relocating to Dubai is predicted to continue," the report notes. "Net inflows are expected to surpass those of all other countries."
