Dubai has officially entered the ranks of the world's top 20 cities for wealth, now home to 81,200 millionaires, including 237 centi-millionaires (those with wealth exceeding $100 million) and 20 billionaires.

According to the 'World's Wealthiest Cities Report 2024' issued by Henley & Partners in collaboration with New World Wealth, Dubai climbed three spots, ranking 18th globally in terms of the number of wealthy people residing in the city.

The report highlights Dubai's continued rise as a leading global hub for investment, business, and high-net-worth individuals, cementing its status as a premier destination for wealth and prosperity.

Dubai also topped Arab cities in wealth rankings, becoming one of the fastest-growing cities globally for millionaires. It has secured the top place in the Arab world, according to the latest report. Over the past decade, the city recorded an impressive 102 per cent growth in the number of millionaires, making it the third-fastest growing city in the world for high net-worth individuals (HNWIs), trailing only Shenzhen and Hangzhou.

Significant surge

The report revealed that Dubai attracted 8,700 new millionaires increasing the total number of HNWIs in the city to 81,200 by the end of 2024, up from 72,500 in 2023.

The number of ultra-wealthy individuals in Dubai

— those with a net worth exceeding $100 million — rose to 237 by the end of 2024, up from 212 in 2023, reflecting the emirate's growing appeal as a global wealth hub.

Abu Dhabi joins race

Meanwhile, Abu Dhabi witnessed a significant surge in its millionaire population over the past decade. Between 2014 and 2024, the capital recorded an 80 per cent increase in the number of millionaires, reaching 17,800 by the end of 2024.

Abu Dhabi is now home to approximately 75 centi-millionaires and eight billionaires, underscoring the emirate's rising profile as a centre for wealth creation and investment.

Dubai and Abu Dhabi, which has 75 centi-millionaires, top the list of cities projected to witness significant growth in ultra-wealthy residents over the next decade.

The number of wealthy people with a net worth exceeding $100 million in both emirates is expected to double by 2034, driven by the region's sustained economic growth, investor-friendly climate, and strategic vision for the future.

Indian rupee weakens again after rate cut

This is Reserve Bank of India's second rate cut since February

The Indian rupee has weakened again, slipping to 23.58 against the UAE dirham after the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) cut its key interest rate by 0.25 per cent, bringing the base rate down to 6 per cent.

This is the RBI's second rate cut since February, and analysts say the move was expected — yet still placed immediate pressure on the Indian rupee. "A RBI cut will further support the potential trend of Indian rupee depreciation," said Krishnan Ramachandran, CEO of Barjeel Geojit Financial Services.

For Indian expats in the UAE, this could be a window of opportunity. After hovering around 23.2-23.3 recently, the rupee's weakening trend could push it back to 23.80 — or even to the record low of 23.94 seen in February.

Further pressure

"The current 23.50+ levels suggest the Indian rupee could be revisiting its March lows," said Neelesh Gopalan, Senior FX Analyst at a Dubai-based fintech. "A further dip toward 24 per UAE dirham is not out of the question." Technical analyst Foram Chedda noted the rupee's 1.9 per cent depreciation against the dollar, confirming that the recent Indian rupee strength was temporary.

"The broader bias still favours a weaker rupee, especially with global trade tensions and currency volatility."

Despite this, India's strong forex reserves — over $650 billion — offer some cushion. However, if market volatility persists, especially tied to US-China tariff threats, the Indian rupee could face further pressure.

For NRIs in the Gulf, this may be an ideal time to remit, before potential rebounds or policy shifts impact the favourable exchange rate.
