

Israel launches attacks on Iran

No U.S. help, Rubio says; Netanyahu cites nation’s ‘very survival’ for strikes

BY WARREN P. STROBEL, JOHN HUDSON, KAREN DEYOUNG AND GERRY SHIH

Israel launched military strikes on Iran early Friday, potentially plunging the Middle East into a new round of violence and signaling the likely end for now of President Donald Trump’s hopes for a negotiated peace deal to halt Tehran’s nuclear development.

In a video statement early Friday, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said “This operation will continue for as many days as it takes to remove” what he called a “clear and present danger to Israel’s very survival.” Iran, he said, could “produce a nuclear weapon in a very short time. It could be a year. It could be a few months.”

Netanyahu said that Israeli aircraft had “struck at the heart” of Iran’s nuclear enrichment and “nuclear weaponization” programs, including Iran’s main uranium enrichment facility in Natanz. “We targeted Iran’s leading nuclear scientists working on the Iranian bomb. We also struck at the heart of Iran’s ballistic missile program.”

Iranian media reported that Hossein Salami, commander in chief of the Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps, had been killed, along with Fereydoun Abbasi, the former head of the country’s Atomic Energy Organization. Unconfirmed reports said that those targeted included Armed Forces Chief of Staff Mohammad Bagheri and his deputy and other senior

SEE IRAN ON A10

United Nations: Nuclear watchdog says Iran is noncompliant. A10

SAM PANTHAKY/AFP/GETTY IMAGES

Part of Air India Flight 171 is visible at the crash site in Ahmedabad, India. The London-bound aircraft slammed into a dormitory at B.J. Medical College, part of a dense neighborhood.

More than 240 killed in plane crash in India

BOEING 787 GOES DOWN JUST AFTER TAKEOFF

Air disaster is nation’s deadliest in almost 30 years

BY SAHAL QURESHI, KARISHMA MEHROTRA AND SUPRIYA KUMAR

AHMEDABAD, INDIA — An Air India flight bound for London crashed shortly after taking off Thursday from the western city of Ahmedabad, the country’s deadliest air disaster in nearly three decades.

The Boeing 787 Dreamliner, carrying 242 passengers and crew members, went down at around 1:30 p.m. local time, just after departing from Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel International Airport in the state of Gujarat.

Verified CCTV footage from the runway showed the plane ascending, then leveling off, then plummeting to earth — sending clouds of fire into the sky — all in under a minute.

The aircraft slammed into a dormitory at B.J. Medical College in the dense Meghani Nagar neighborhood, just as medical students were sitting down to lunch, witnesses said.

“This is an accident, and nobody can stop accidents,” Home Minister Amit Shah said upon arriving in Ahmedabad.

The cause of the crash was not clear. Also unclear was the full death toll. Officials said initially that all those aboard the flight were believed to be dead.

Later, it emerged one passenger had miraculously survived. Vishwash Kumar was able to walk away from the crash and was recovering from his injuries at a local hospital, where he told the Hindustan Times there was a loud noise 30 seconds into the flight.

“It all happened so quickly,” he told the paper. “I was scared. I stood up and ran.”

AMIT DAVE/REUTERS

Dabu Patni cries upon hearing that her brother died when the Air India flight crashed Thursday in Ahmedabad, India.

More than two dozen people on the ground were also killed. Firefighters navigated a wasteland of charred vehicles, mangled metal and scorched trees. The fuselage of the plane had torn through the upper floors of the dormitory. First responders hauled hoses across smoldering debris as bystanders placed bodies onto stretchers and covered them in white sheets.

“I have never seen this many dead bodies in my life,” said Mahesh Desai, a 39-year-old local who rushed to help. “It was all on

SEE INDIA ON A11

Boeing 787: Fatal crash is first involving Dreamliner aircraft. A11

Trump’s troop deployment in California is ruled illegal

BY CAROLINE O’DONOVAN, KARIN BRULLIARD AND MARK BERMAN

SAN FRANCISCO — A federal judge on Thursday agreed to block the Trump administration from deploying the California National Guard, granting a request by Gov. Gavin Newsom and saying the president acted illegally in dispatching the troops amid immigration protests that have spread from Los Angeles to other cities in the state.

U.S. District Judge Charles R.

Breyer ruled that President Donald Trump acted improperly, “both exceeding the scope of his statutory authority and violating the Tenth Amendment to the United States Constitution. He must therefore return control of the California National Guard to the Governor of the State of California forthwith.”

Though Breyer stayed his order until noon Friday, the government

SEE RULING ON A4

National Guard: Trump plans wider use in immigration enforcement. A5

Inside the digital hunt that took down a child sex abuser

BY YUDHIJIT BHATTACHARJEE

Secret Service agent Tanner Hubbard was about to leave home for the gym early one morning when he saw a message marked “urgent” on his work phone. It came from one of the agency’s analysts posted with Europol in Amsterdam who was alerting U.S. law enforcement to chilling videos discovered on an online forum by undercover police in Australia. They showed the sexual abuse of two very young girls.

Time stamps indicated they were filmed somewhere in the eastern United States.

As Hubbard read the message that Thursday morning in late 2023, he felt a growing sense of urgency. Intuition gained over two years of working on child sex abuse cases using cyber-investigative techniques told him the abuse seen in the videos was “taking place now.” Hubbard drove straight to the Secret Service headquarters in downtown

SEE ABUSER ON A13

Democratic senator is handcuffed at Noem’s briefing on L.A. protests

BY MAEGAN VAZQUEZ, GAYA GUPTA AND JONATHAN BARAN

A Democratic senator from California was forcibly removed and handcuffed after he interrupted a news conference held Thursday by Homeland Security Secretary Kristi L. Noem, setting off another political clash over the Trump administration sending troops to quell protests over immigration raids in Los Angeles.

In videos reviewed by The Washington Post, Sen. Alex Padilla (D-California) can be heard interjecting about six minutes into Noem’s opening remarks at the news conference inside Los Angeles FBI headquarters: “Secretary, I want to know why you insist on exaggerating and embellishing ...” Within a few seconds, the videos show federal agents start to forcibly shove the senator toward the exit.

“I’m Senator Alex Padilla, I have questions for the secretary. Because the fact of the matter is, a half a dozen violent criminals that you’re rotating on your ...” he said as he was pushed out of the room.

Democrats far and wide — including House and Senate members, California leaders and former presidential nominee Hil-

SEE PADILLA ON A5

OFFICE OF SEN. ALEX PADILLA/REUTERS

Still images obtained from a video show law enforcement personnel forcibly removing Sen. Alex Padilla (D-California) after he interrupted a news conference held Thursday by Homeland Security Secretary Kristi L. Noem in Los Angeles.

‘No Kings’: Protests planned for Saturday in over 2,000 cities. A8

School walkout: A show of support for Montgomery County student. B1

In minutes, immigration raids detain L.A. workers

BY ARELIS R. HERNÁNDEZ, MARIANNE LEVINE AND ZOEANN MURPHY

LOS ANGELES — Federal immigration officers conducting workplace sweeps in Los Angeles over the past week have repeatedly targeted a quintessential business in highway-heavy Southern California: the car wash.

Officers in masks and bullet-proof vests have been spotted pulling up to businesses in pickup trucks, detaining workers wiping windshields and then shutting them away — all in a matter of minutes.

At least six car washes have been targeted in California’s largest city, where protests over the raids and President Donald Trump’s decision to call in National Guard troops and the Marines are expected to continue.

Over two consecutive days, U.S. Customs and Border Protection agents descended on Westchester Hand Wash near Los Angeles International Airport. The Washington Post obtained video showing how each raid transpired. Surveillance footage from Sunday shows immigration agents using

SEE RAID ON A6

IN THE NEWS

Public lands for sale? Senate Republicans, in their spending and tax cut bill, proposed selling off up to 3.3 million acres of federally owned land in 11 Western states. A3

Planning for the parade A guide to the many street closures in the nation’s capital for Saturday’s Army celebration. B1

THE NATION New Orleans is considering easing restrictions on police use of facial recognition. A3
The Supreme Court revived a lawsuit over the FBI’s raid of an incorrect house. A4

THE WORLD Protests erupted in Kenya after the death of 30-year-old blogger in police custody. A9
A U.S.-backed humanitarian aid group said five workers were killed in a Hamas attack. A10

THE ECONOMY Disney and Universal entered the battle raging between AI companies and copyright holders with a pivotal lawsuit. A12

THE CLIMATE Homeless people are at much higher risk of heat-related illnesses, a study found. A14

THE REGION House lawmakers voted to nullify D.C.’s “sanctuary city” law and mandate the city’s cooperation with federal immigration authorities. B1
A soldier accused of slapping, strangling and sometimes raping women testified in his court-martial trial. B1

STYLE With cameras not allowed, sketch artists are the public’s eyes for the trial of rap mogul Sean “Diddy” Combs. C1
WEEKEND “A Wrinkle in Time,” 63 years later, becomes a stage musical with the help of some imagination and fuzzy puppets.

BUSINESS NEWS.....A12
COMICS.....C5
OBITUARIES.....B4
OPINION PAGES.....A15
TELEVISION.....C4
WORLD NEWS.....A9

CONTENT © 2025
The Washington Post
Year 148, No. 54246

