

Why there's nothing worse than a husband who won't argue back!

BRYONY GORDON SEE PAGE 33

Daily Mail

FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 2025

dailymail.co.uk

£1.20

SCAN TO SUBSCRIBE
AND SAVE

NEW ONLINE SAFETY RULES 'WILL LEAVE CHILDREN IN DANGER'

NEW online safety rules put the profits of Big Tech firms ahead of children's safety, campaigners warned last night.

In an angry backlash, parents

By Martin Beckford
Policy Editor

and the Children's Commissioner said Ofcom's long-awaited rules did not go far enough.

The communications regulator insisted that young people would have 'safer online lives' under its final proposals to tackle legal but harmful content on websites, social media and apps.

Ofcom said it had the power to fine technology firms up to £18million or 10 per cent of their global revenue

Turn to Page 4

Thunderbolt:
Ms Pugh in London yesterday

Florence, looking Marvel-ous in leather

SEE PAGE 13