

The ape with road rage who rammed me in his Porsche picked on the wrong woman!

SARAH VINE

Daily Mail

dailymail.co.uk

£1.10 85p to subscribers

SCAN TO SUBSCRIBE
AND SAVE

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 2025

EXCLUSIVE

Distraught mother of Letby victim hits out at 'disrespectful' campaign to free her

By Liz Hull

A MOTHER whose baby boy Lucy Letby tried to murder hit back last night at the 'upsetting' and 'disrespectful' attempts to free her.

The woman spoke out after a panel of experts claimed the former neo-natal nurse's convictions were 'one of the major injustices of modern times'.

Letby's new legal team yesterday unveiled a report which claimed all of the 14 babies murdered or harmed by her were victims of bad medical care and died or collapsed because of natural causes.

They have lodged an application with the Criminal Cases Review Commission, which investigates potential miscarriages of justice, in a bid to have her convictions overturned. Retired Canadian medic Dr Shoo Lee, who presented the findings of 14 international experts at a two-hour press conference, claimed the panel understood the 'stress and anguish' of the families involved

Turn to Page 2

Seaside tragedy: Saffron Cole-Nottage, 32

Young mum drowned after 'getting trapped in the rocks' on Suffolk beach

SEE PAGE FIVE