

GROWTH? WHAT GROWTH?

Chancellor's Heathrow plan flies straight into turbulence

By Jason Groves
and Harriet Line

RACHEL Reeves opened up a deep split in Labour last night as she gambled on expanding Heathrow to revive her flagging growth strategy.

The Chancellor backed controversial plans for a third runway at Britain's biggest airport as she vowed to fight the 'blockers' holding back the economy. The Prime Minister and his London mayor and top Labour donor vow opposition, while Net Zero Miliband goes missing. No wonder Ryanair boss says it might not be built for 25 years!

Chancellor were criticised last year after their gloomy financial warnings were blamed for shattering business and consumer confidence.

Ms Reeves yesterday insisted she was 'optimistic' about the economic prospects, but she refused to rule out a fresh round of tax rises and spending cuts in March if the public finances continue to deteriorate.

Within minutes of the Chancellor backing Heathrow, London's Labour mayor Sadiq Khan condemned the proposal, saying it would be impossible to deliver 'without a hugely

Turn to Page 6

RENEE'S
JUST MAD
ABOUT HER BOY!

SEE PAGE THREE

Premiere: Renee Zellweger dazzles in London last night

