As Starmer's welfare U-turn falls flat...

REBEL MPs ARE SET TO HUMILIATE PM TODAY

SIR Keir Starmer will be hit by the biggest rebellion of his premiership today.

His attempts to win over welfare Bill rebels fell flat yesterday in a major blow to his authority just days before the anniversary of his landslide election victory.

Dozens of his MPs are expected to abstain or vote against his plans to restrict disability benefits. He faces the backlash even though he tried to stave off the rebellion by offering concessions that will halve the planned savings from £5billion to £2.5billion by the end of the decade. Despite
