

INSIDE SECRETS OF THE WEDDING OF THE CENTURY

SEE PAGES 18-19

Today the Chancellor will point the finger at global turmoil, but the public don't buy it...

DON'T SHIFT BLAME FOR ECONOMY'S WOES, VOTERS TELL REEVES

RACHEL Reeves will today blame world events for Britain's faltering economy – as voters in a bombshell poll say it is her fault.

The beleaguered Chancellor will publish official forecasts

By Jason Groves
Political Editor

this afternoon showing the outlook for economic growth has halved to around 1 per cent.

Following her controversial tax-raising Budget in October, the Office for Budget Responsibility (OBR) is also expected to warn living standards are set to stagnate for the rest of the decade.

The gloomy forecasts put Ms Reeves on course to break her own 'fiscal rules' and unveil £15 billion in cuts in today's Spring Statement on the economy, triggering a Labour backlash over whether she is pursuing austerity. In a thinly

Turn to Page 6

ROYAL BOMBSHELL

Joint action: Sentebale co-founders Prince Harry and Prince Seeiso of Lesotho have both resigned

'Devastated' Harry quits his own charity over infighting

SEE PAGE FIVE