Voters furious over migration, winter fuel payments and the inheritance tax fiasco deliver damning verdict on PM

POLL: STARMER WILL BE OUT OF No 10 IN A YEAR

EXCLUSIVE

DEPUTY POLITICAL EDITOR

SIR Keir Starmer will be ousted as Prime Minister within a year, an exclusive poll for The Mail on Sunday has predicted – with furious voters attacking his poor handling of the economy, the NHS, immigration and the cost-of-living crisis.

Nearly a third of all Britons polled in the 'state of the nation' survey expect the Labour leader to last another year at most, with more than two thirds (68 per cent) saying he is doing 'badly', just six months into the job.

And in news that will worry both Labour and the Conservatives, one in five voters thinks that Nigel Farage will be Britain's next Prime Minister.

The bombshell poll comes as speculation mounts in Westminster over Sir Keir's future after a dismal start to his premiership.

Since Labour's landslide victory last July, the party has been dogged by a series of missteps, including rows
