Raised UPI limits benefit Indian expats

UAE's Indian expats can now transfer up to Rs1 million every day

DUBAI

If you're an Indian expat in the UAE, your UPI app just became more supercharged. The National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI) has just raised daily transaction limits for high-value payments, effective Tuesday. This is a game-changer for investments, insurance premiums, EMIs, travel, and more. Here's everything you need to know:

■ Capital markets, Insurance: Per transaction limit jumps to Rs500,000 (from Rs200,000), daily limit now Rs1 million.

■ Government e-Marketplace, Travel bookings, Loan repayments, EMIs: Same Rs1 million daily ceiling.

■ Credit card bills: Single payment can now hit Rs500,000, daily cap rises to Rs600,000.

■ Jewellery purchases: Rs200,000 per transaction, daily ceiling now Rs600,000.

■ Hospital, Education payments: Daily cap remains Rs1 million, per transaction Rs500,000.

■ Government securities, RBI direct investments: Rs1 million daily limit.

For UAE-based Indians managing multiple investments or sending money home, this means faster, safer high-value payments — without relying on cheques or slower banking channels.

With higher limits comes higher responsibility. NPCI is ending the P2P "collect request" feature from October 1, designed to prevent scams targeting unsuspecting users with fake reward or cashback requests.

■ You can settle insurance premiums, EMIs, and big travel bookings instantly.

■ High-value investment transfers to Indian accounts are now simpler.

■ Fraud risks are reduced, as new high limits apply only to verified merchants.

■ P2P payments remain capped at Rs100,000 per day — so your personal transfers are still secure.

Israeli troops push deep into Gaza City

EU WARNS OF WORSENING CRISIS; UN PANEL ACCUSES ISRAEL OF GENOCIDE

DUBAI

Israel launched a ground offensive in Gaza City yesterday, killing at least 80 people as a United Nations inquiry concluded the country is committing genocide in the territory. The assault on Gaza's largest city marked a major escalation in the war and dimmed prospects for a ceasefire.

The European Union warned the offensive would worsen an already "catastrophic" humanitarian crisis. "A military intervention will lead to more destruction, more death and more displacement ... and also endangers the lives of hostages," said EU spokesman Anouar El Anouni. Brussels is expected to present proposals today for measures against Israel.

Massive bombardment

The operation began before dawn with massive bombardment as Israeli troops pushed into the urban hub. Defence Minister Israel Katz declared, "Gaza is burning." An Israeli military graphic suggested troops aim to control almost the entire Strip, leaving only a coastal swath outside their reach.

The UN Human Rights Council's commission, set up four years ago, issued its most damning report yet, accusing Israel of genocide and urging the world to hold those responsible to ac-

UAE'S FIRM STAND

Dr Anwar Gargash, diplomatic adviser to the UAE President, voiced the UAE's firm support for Qatar following the September 9 Israeli strike on Doha.

In a post on his official X account, Gargash wrote: "The UAE's position is principled and stems from the shared destiny that has bound the Gulf states through decades of challenges and crises."

He added that the Gulf Cooperation Council and the Arab-Islamic summit in Doha "confirmed that Qatar does not stand alone, and that Israel's treacherous aggression only strengthens our solidarity." He said: "Israel's law of the jungle will not govern international conduct."

count. On a brief visit, US Secretary of State Marco Rubio cautioned there was only a "very short window" to reach a deal to end the conflict. Meanwhile, Israel struck Yemen's Hodeida port in retaliation for Houthi missile and drone fire. A UN estimate says more than 220,000 Palestinians have fled northern Gaza in the past month.
