

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

DOW JONES | News Corp

MONDAY, JULY 13, 2026 ~ VOL. CCLXXXVIII NO. 10

WSJ.com

★★★★ $5.00

Last week: DJIA 52637.01 ▼ 263.06 0.50% NASDAQ 26281.61 ▲ 1.7% STOXX 600 641.10 ▼ 1.8% 10-YR. TREASURY (Reopening) yield 4.568% OIL $71.41 ▲ $2.72 EURO $1.1417 YEN 161.70

What's News

Business & Finance

- ◆ Apple fired a shot at an artificial-intelligence rival by filing a lawsuit alleging that a senior OpenAI executive was involved in a monthslong campaign to steal Apple trade secrets. A1
- ◆ Wall Street is sending a message to technology companies engaged in a historic borrowing spree for AI infrastructure that they need to slow down. B1
- ◆ The $9.6 billion that venture-capital mogul Vinod Khosla has paid for the Seattle Seahawks is a record price for a controlling interest in an NFL franchise. B1
- ◆ Federal Reserve Chairman Warsh will have opportunity to steer a new consensus about rate policy and inflation when he testifies to Congress this week. A2
- ◆ "Moana," Disney's live-action remake of its animated hit, disappointed in its weekend box-office debut, earning $43 million domestically for a production that cost about $250 million. B3
- ◆ The launch of ADI Predictstreet, a new prediction market owned by the Abu Dhabi royal family, has been troubled even as it benefits from World Cup exposure. B1
- ◆ A coalition of record-label and artist groups is pushing streaming giants to label music generated with artificial intelligence, as the industry grapples with how AI is changing the business. B3
- ◆ More companies are looking for "AI champions" within their ranks who are enthusiastic about the technology and willing to sell colleagues on its importance. B4

Worldwide

- ◆ Sen. Lindsey Graham of South Carolina, a foreign-policy hawk who became one of Trump's closest allies in Congress, died at 71. A1
- ◆ Graham's death added to the challenges of fellow Republicans as they struggle to enact the Trump agenda. A1
- ◆ Iran's chokehold over the Strait of Hormuz is part of a long game by which Tehran hopes to end up dominating the Gulf economy and emerging as a regional hegemon. A1
- ◆ The U.S. carried out new strikes on Iranian military targets near the strait as the standoff between the countries deepens. A8
- ◆ The government subpoenaed New York Times reporters who worked on articles about security concerns over a jet given to the U.S. by Qatar and used as Air Force One. A3
- ◆ Sen. McConnell said his lengthy absence from Congress has been because of a fall and subsequent pneumonia, and he plans to return. A5
- ◆ Ukraine's prime minister resigned after a little over a year in office in a shakeup by Zelensky's government. A9
- ◆ The Justice Department is probing an allegation that UAW President Fain abused his position to help his fiancée get a financial benefit. A3
- ◆ Investigators have found evidence that Corey Lewandowski may have been involved in improperly awarding government contracts at Homeland Security. A3
- ◆ A fire killed 27 people at a pub in Bangkok. A9
- ◆ Died: Sheikh Hamad Al Thani, 74, ex-ruler of Qatar. A9

CONTENTS	Mutual Funds.....B8
Arts in Review.....A14	Opinion.....A15-17
Business & Finance.....B1	Personal Journal A10
Business News.....B3	Sports.....A12
Crossword.....A11	Technology.....B4
Heard on Street.....B10	U.S. News.....A2-6
Markets Digest.....B7	World News A8-9, 18

© 2026 Dow Jones & Company, Inc.
All Rights Reserved

Sen. Graham, GOP Stalwart, Dies at 71

VALENTYN GURENKO/REUTERS

Sen. Lindsey Graham spoke to reporters in Kyiv, Ukraine, on Friday after his meeting with President Volodymyr Zelensky.

Trump ally backed tough action against Iran, had longtime support for Israel

Sen. Lindsey Graham of South Carolina, a foreign-policy hawk who transformed from a fierce critic of President Trump into one of his closest allies in Congress, has died. He was 71.

The Republican senator, who

By Siobhan Hughes,
Vera Bergengruen
and Alex Leary

was the chief congressional proponent of the months-old war with Iran and a staunch supporter of Israel and Ukraine, died after a brief and sudden illness, his office said on Sunday. He had been in Ukraine on Friday to meet with President Volodymyr Zelensky and had returned home to Washington.

Graham was "one of the greatest people and Senators I have ever known," Trump posted on social media on Sunday. The president ordered flags flown at half-staff until Saturday evening. Graham's family said it appreciated prayers and asked for privacy.

Emergency personnel responded to a medical emergency for a person suffering from cardiac arrest at Graham's address on Capitol Hill on Saturday evening, according to a recording of police-scanner traffic reviewed by The Wall Street Journal.

A Graham spokeswoman said the District of Columbia medical examiner in preliminary findings said the senator died following a tear in his aorta because of arteriosclerotic cardiovascular disease. The spokeswoman said the death certificate will be pending until all toxicological and microscopic testing is finalized.

The death of one of the most influential GOP senators stunned Washington.

"Total shock and disbelief at the loss of a great American," said Sen. Bernie Moreno (R., Ohio). "My heart is heavy this

Please turn to page A4

◆ Graham died from aortic tear, early report says.... A4

Sudden Death Adds to Challenges For Republicans on Capitol Hill

Republicans were expected to move quickly to fill late Sen. Lindsey Graham's seat, after his sudden death added to the challenges facing GOP lawmakers as they try to con-

By Eliza Collins,
Olivia Beavers
and Richard Rubin

firm a key nominee and pass President Trump's agenda headed into the midterms.

The longtime South Carolina Republican died at age 71 from an aortic tear, his office said. His death narrowed the GOP's Senate majority to 52-47.

"There will be a massive hole in the Senate in the size and shape of Lindsey Graham. It will impact everything," said Sen. Mike Lee (R., Utah) on Fox News on Sunday. He added, "There are plans of succession in place, of course, and I'm sure those will unfold in the coming days and weeks. Nonetheless, the impact of this can't be overstated."

The process to replace Graham is straightforward. Gov. Henry McMaster, a Republican, can appoint a temporary successor immediately to serve out the rest of Graham's term, which ends in January. Once someone fills the position, Republicans will be back to a 53-47 majority, though Sen. Mitch McConnell (R., Ky.) remains unavailable to vote because of his own health problems.

Then, the state will hold a redo of the Republican primary to select a new nominee to take Graham's place on the ballot. Given the state's deep-red lean, the winner of the special primary is expected to be the favorite to keep the seat in Republican hands in the November's election for the next six-year term.

The governor's office declined to comment on next steps or who would fill the job, saying the immediate focus was on honoring Graham. In an interview on NBC, President Trump said he had someone in mind to succeed Graham but declined to elaborate.

Graham's death also causes some more urgent difficulties for Republicans as well. This coming week, the Senate is scheduled to consider the nomination of Trump's attorney general pick, Todd Blanche.

On Wednesday, the nominee is set to have his confirmation hearing in front of the Senate Judiciary Committee, of which Graham was a member. Graham's death could

Please turn to page A5

Iran Plays Long Game Amid New Fighting

By YAROSLAV TROFIMOV

DUBAI—For the Iranian regime, keeping a chokehold over the Strait of Hormuz has turned out to be more important than the tens of billions of dollars in sanctions relief from the Trump administration.

That is because Tehran is playing a long game. Iranian officials believe the country has finally emerged as a regional hegemon, after the U.S. and Israel failed to achieve their main goals in the war they unleashed in February. And, as long as Tehran cements this new status by securing permanent arrangements to control the vital waterway—and dominating the Persian Gulf economies along with it—then the rest, including American sanctions relief, will eventually follow.

"This is the only way: recognize the new Iranian order in the Strait of Hormuz," warned Ebrahim Azizi, the head of the Iranian parliament's national security commission. "The Strait of Hormuz will only open with 'Iranian arrangements,' not American threats," added the parliament's speaker and the lead negotiator with the U.S., Mohammad Bagher Ghalibaf.

Please turn to page A8

◆ U.S., Iran trade new rounds of attacks..... A8

INSIDE

HEILER ANDREY/DADES/SPORTVO/ZUMA PRESS

SPORTS

England's win on Saturday set up a World Cup semifinal against Argentina. A12

WORLD

Remnants of a Russian mercenary group establish foothold in African drug trade. A18

Jannik Sinner Defends Wimbledon Title

KIRILL KUDRYAVTSEV/AF/GETTY IMAGES

STRONG RETURN: The world's No. 1-ranked tennis player defeated Alexander Zverev of Germany in four close sets. Among women, Linda Noskova beat Karolina Muchova. A12.

Apple's OpenAI Suit Echoes Past Attacks

By ROLFE WINKLER

Steve Jobs declared "thermonuclear war" on Google's Android operating system in 2010, calling it a "stolen product." Now, his successor is going to battle against Apple's new and dangerous rival.

In one of his last acts as Apple's chief executive before successor John Ternus takes over, Tim Cook fired a missile at OpenAI. In a lawsuit filed Friday, Apple alleged that a senior OpenAI executive, who once sat atop Apple's own product design team, was involved in a monthslong campaign to steal Apple trade secrets.

Although it isn't yet clear what evidence the company has to back up all its claims, the suit lands before OpenAI has released a product and as the technology industry races to build artificial-intelligence-powered devices that can move society beyond the smartphone era. The winner could dominate the future just as Apple's iPhone has ruled the consumer market for the last 20 years.

"I am not afraid of Apple, but I have tremendous re-

Please turn to page A6

◆ Onslaught of AI bonds tests investors..... B1

Activists Ramp Up For War With AI

A leader's disappearance has a hard-line movement against AI on edge

By ZUSHA ELINSON

SAN FRANCISCO—In the months after Sam Kirchner disappeared in November, Matthew Hall searched city streets where homeless live and in wooded hills where campers hide.

Hall worried for the safety of Kirchner, a 27-year-old activist who had been leading sit-ins at OpenAI to protest the dangers of artificial intelligence. He feared for OpenAI's employees, too. The last time Hall saw him was at the spartan Oakland cottage that served as headquarters for their hard-line group, Stop AI. Kirchner, an electrical engineering technician by training, was angry, insistent that more had to be done.

"I'm done with this," he said, according to Hall. "The ship may have sailed on nonviolence."

Kirchner's disappearance looms over what has become ground zero for a hardening resistance to the world's

Please turn to page A9