An 18-year-old outstanding Indian expat student and recipient of the prestigious UAE Golden Visa died of cardiac arrest in Dubai on Tuesday night.

Loved ones are mourning the loss of Vaishnav Krishnakumar, 18, who reportedly collapsed on the premises of his college in Academic City during a Diwali celebration. He is survived by his parents and younger sister. His family was informed that the first-year BBA Marketing student was rushed to a hospital in an ambulance but could not be revived.

Vaishnav was the Head of School Councils at GEMS Our Own Indian School, Dubai, last year. He scored 97.4 per cent in CBSE Class 12 Boards, with a centum (100/100) in both Marketing and Entrepreneurship and full AI grades across all subjects, following which he was awarded the UAE Golden Visa.

Gargash: Gaza ceasefire is an opportunity to change course

‘THE MAXIMALIST VIEWS ON THE PALESTINIAN ISSUE ARE NO LONGER VALID’

Dr Anwar Gargash, diplomatic adviser to the UAE President, said the Gaza ceasefire that came into force earlier this month presents an important opening but the approach to one of the world’s most complex and intractable conflicts needs to change.

“This is definitely a moment of opportunity. I think the first thing to say, we see opportunity because we have a chance today to change course,” Gargash said in an interview at the Reuters NEXT Gulf Summit in Abu Dhabi.

Addressing the issue

“Some policies are no longer valid and should not be reincarnated, the maximalist views on the Palestinian issue are no longer valid, we have to address the issue that we have two contending nationalisms fighting on one piece of land and that land has to be divided,” Gargash said.

“Are we going to continue

As the drums of war fall silent, Palestinian girls play on a mattress abandoned amid the rubble of destroyed buildings in the Shaikh Radwan neighbourhood of Gaza City yesterday.

with this sort of maximalist views on how to address the Palestinian issue, for example, by the Israeli right, which has to understand that this is not going to go away,” added Gargash.

Changing mindsets

UAE Minister of State Lana Nusseibeh said during a panel

at the Summit that the UAE normalised relations with Israel to foster tolerance and change mindsets in the region. “We partnered with the Arab region, with the United States and with Israel using the Abraham Accords to help achieve this ceasefire in Gaza that was so desperately needed,” said Nusseibeh.

‘Red line’ for the UAE

Gargash reiterated that Israeli annexation in the occupied West Bank would constitute a “red line” for the UAE.

At the Summit, Dr Gargash reiterated the UAE’s support for a two-state solution as part of an Arab and international vision that “provides Israel with security, but also Palestinians with a viable state”.

Crucial humanitarian role

He said the UAE played a crucial humanitarian role in Gaza, providing billions of dollars in aid and 100,000 tonnes of food and medical supplies. That assistance would not have been possible if the UAE did not previously establish relations with Israel, he added.

“The aid we provided is not only because the UAE is generous, it’s also because the UAE has been able to leverage its relations with Israel to use that access,” he said. “If we had no relationship with Israel, we wouldn’t have been able to bring 3,000 Palestinians and their families here.”
