

6 28010 002377

THURSDAY
JULY 30, 2026
SAFAR 15, 1448

TRUSTED NEWS SINCE 1978

gulfnews.com
GULF NEWS

LIVE
UPDATES

Cargo, Courier,
Shipping, logistics

800 916
www.abccargo.com

3154865 141

UAE Presidential Court

PRESIDENT ARRIVES IN SLOVAKIA

President His Highness Sheikh Mohamed Bin Zayed Al Nahyan is received by Robert Kaliniac, Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Defence of Slovakia, upon arriving at M.R. Stefanik Airport in Bratislava. Sheikh Mohamed was accompanied by Sheikh Hamdan Bin Mohamed Bin Zayed Al Nahyan, Deputy Chairman of the Presidential Court for Special Affairs; Sheikh Mohammed Bin Hamad Bin Tahnoon Al Nahyan, Adviser to the UAE President; and a number of ministers and senior officials.

Why high humidity doesn't bring rain

During summers in UAE, there's limited large-scale upward motion of moist air

DUBAI

Gulf News Report

During UAE summers, it sometimes becomes suffocating due to extreme humidity and yet the skies remain cloudless and not a drop of rain falls.

"Humidity alone does not produce rain," Ibrahim Al Jarwan, Chairman of the Emirates Astronomical Society, and a member of the Arab Union for Astronomy and Space Sciences, told Gulf News.

Rain requires moist air to rise high into the atmosphere, cool and condense into clouds before droplets become heavy enough to fall. During much of the UAE's summer, those conditions are often absent.

Not the main source

Contrary to what many people assume, the Arabian Gulf is not always the main source of the country's summer humidity.

According to Al Jarwan, the most significant increase in humidity from August onwards is driven by "Kous" winds carrying moisture from the Arabian Sea and the Gulf of Oman.

These south-easterly winds spread humid air across much of the country, pushing humidity levels above 90 per cent on some days. High humidity simply means there is plenty of water vapour in the air. Rain, however, requires something more: the air must rise.

Rain requires moist air to rise high into the atmosphere, cool and condense into clouds before droplets become heavy enough to fall.

When moist air rises, it cools. As temperatures fall, the air can no longer hold the same amount of water vapour, causing tiny droplets to form clouds.

During much of the UAE's summer, the atmosphere is relatively stable, limiting large-scale upward motion across much of the country.

As a result, moisture remains trapped in the lower atmosphere, making conditions feel hot and oppressive without necessarily producing rainfall.

Rain is more likely where mountains force humid air upwards, explaining why summer thunderstorms are usually confined to eastern and mountainous parts of the UAE.

One reason summer weather feels very different in Dubai and Abu Dhabi than it does in Al Ain or the Empty Quarter is their proximity to the sea.

SEE ALSO P2

Decision on Abu Dhabi GP to be taken in September: F1 boss

Domenicali says season could end in Europe if situation deteriorates

DUBAI

BY JAYDIP SENGUPTA
Pages Editor

Stefano Domenicali, President and CEO of Formula 1, has assured that the Abu Dhabi Grand Prix is on schedule despite the ongoing uncertainty in the Middle East. A final call will be made mid-September, he added.

Speaking to reporters following the Hungarian GP and with the season now into its one-month break, Domenicali said: "With regards to the end of the season, we are in touch with all the other championships.

Waiting game

"The way that we are structured is that we will take the maximum time for us to see how the situation will develop, and we will take the decision at the right time.

"That moment will be not be before the middle of September. For us today, the races in Qatar and Abu Dhabi are confirmed. By the way, they are already sold out. That is an incredible sign of how much the sport is bigger than the problem that our world is living.

"But of course, if the situation will not be cleared the way that we believe it should be, before the middle of September, we will take the decision. And in that respect, I just want to con-

Virendra Saklani/Gulf News

Domenicali says the Abu Dhabi GP, which is already sold out, is confirmed to go ahead as of now.

For us today, the races in Qatar and Abu Dhabi are confirmed. By the way, they are already sold out. That is an incredible sign of how much the sport is bigger than the problem that our world is living."

Stefano Domenicali
President and CEO of Formula 1

firm to you that if this will not be possible, then the end of the season would be in Europe."

The Bahrain Grand Prix, which had to be cancelled due to the unrest in the Middle East, will now be held at the Sepang International Circuit in Malaysia from October 2-4 this year between the Azerbaijan and Singapore Grands Prix.

The fourth race on the Formula 1 calendar was supposed to be held from April 10-12 at the Bahrain International Circuit in Sakhir, but had to be scrapped along with the following week's Saudi Arabian Grand Prix in Jeddah.

"Together, we have found a new way of hosting the Grand Prix in Malaysia," Domenicali said.

"It's a sign of cooperation, it's the sign of thinking wider than what other people believe. And I need to thank the Kingdom of Bahrain, the Grands Prix, the Kingdom of Malaysia, to understand that there was a possibility to bring back a track that has been part of our championship in the past."

TRUMP SAYS WILL HIT IRAN 'HARD' AFTER JORDAN ATTACK

Saudi Arabia, US strike militant bases in Iraq

DUBAI

Gulf News Report

US President Donald Trump vowed to hit back hard at Iran after it attacked US bases in Jordan yesterday, as the Middle East war reignited and once again drew in the Islamic republic's proxies.

The warning came after a short lull in fighting that had spurred hopes of a return to negotiations appeared to draw to an end, sending oil prices jumping more than seven per cent over fears of disruptions to global supplies.

Yesterday, Saudi Arabia and the United States announced strikes on militant bases in Iraq, while US ally Israel accused Iran-backed Hezbollah of a truce violation. For two days, the world's biggest oil exporter Saudi Arabia has reported drone attacks targeting crude facilities that it blamed on Iraqi armed groups allied with Tehran.

Iran, meanwhile, launched missiles at US ally Jordan, with state media later reporting an American attack near the Islamic republic's border with Iraq.

UAE CONDEMNS ATTACK ON JORDAN

The UAE has condemned in the strongest terms the hostile attack targeting Jordan with a drone.

In a statement, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MoFA) affirmed that this hostile attack constitutes a flagrant violation of the sovereignty of Jordan and a threat to its security and stability.

The Ministry reiterated the UAE's full solidarity with Jordan and its support for all measures aimed at safeguarding its security and stability.

—WAM

"We'll be hitting them hard. They're going to get a beating," Fox News's correspondent quoted Trump as saying.

Iranian state television, meanwhile, reported a US strike in its territory.

Earlier, Jordan's army said it had intercepted five Iranian missiles, with Iran's Revolutionary Guards saying they had targeted US bases there.

Joint operation

In Iraq, a joint US-Saudi air operation followed attacks by what Riyadh called "terrorist militias loyal to Iran" on its oil facilities. The US military said logistics and weapons sites belonging to an Iran-aligned group were targeted in the strikes.

According to Iraq's Hashed Al Shaabi alliance, the attacks killed at least 20 of its members across seven provinces, including Baghdad. The Iraqi presidency denounced the strikes on the Hashed Al Shaabi as "an unacceptable attack and a blatant violation of Iraq's sovereignty".

According to Fox News, however, Trump said the strikes were "coordinated with the Iraqi government".

The latest developments came as Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu of Israel met with Trump. Both sides described the meeting as positive, with Netanyahu saying it touched on "our common goal: ensuring that Iran does not obtain nuclear weapons".

SEE ALSO P6

SPECIAL REPORT

Dynamic and visionary UAE business heads in profile

IN FOCUS

Sugar feeds cancer? Here's what the evidence shows | P8-9