

TRUMP PLEDGES NEW ‘GOLDEN AGE’

CHIP SOMODEVILLA/POOL/AFP VIA GETTY IMAGES

Donald Trump took the oath of office from Chief Justice John Roberts of the US Supreme Court as his wife, Melania, and daughter Ivanka observed during inauguration ceremonies in the Rotunda of the US Capitol. Bitter weather prompted the swearing in to be moved indoors.

Unprecedented pardons given by both presidents

NEW YORK TIMES
WASHINGTON — In an extraordinary expansion of the use of pardons, President Biden granted a wave of preemptive protections before leaving office Monday for members of his own family and high-profile political and military figures, then President Trump, about 12 hours later, issued a sweeping grant of clemency to all of the 1,500-plus people charged in connection with the attack on the Capitol on Jan. 6, 2021.
The first act sought to derail political prosecutions by Trump, with Biden pardoning five members of his family, including his brothers James Biden and Francis Biden, as well as others such as General Mark Milley, Dr. An-
PARDONS, Page A10

Rubio confirmed
The Senate voted 99-0 to support the Florida senator as the next secretary of state. A4.
Preparing to defend
Local environmental and civil-liberties advocates pledged to combat Trump's actions. B1.
Changes on climate
An order pulls the US out of the Paris climate accord, with more actions ahead to undo Biden environmental efforts. A10.

Local immigration advocates vow a fight

By Giulia McDonnell Nieto del Rio
GLOBE STAFF
President Trump, signaling he would move swiftly to stop the flow of immigrants to the United States, issued a series of executive orders Monday that could affect tens of thousands of immigrants and their families in Massachusetts, and many more around the world hoping to make their way here.
The president sought the end of birthright citizenship, suspended refugee resettlement, and established federal homeland security task forces to coordinate with local officials on deportation operations.
His other immigration-related executive actions included declaring a national emergency at the southern border, increasing the federal vetting of migrants, resuming border wall construction, designating international cartels and transnational gangs as foreign terror-
IMMIGRANTS, Page A5

At Canadian Embassy, a cautious audience

By Sam Brodey
GLOBE STAFF
WASHINGTON — When raucous applause filled the US Capitol Rotunda after President Donald Trump's inaugural address on Monday, a few blocks down Pennsylvania Avenue, a room packed with careful observers of their southern neighbors collectively exhaled.
“We dodged a bullet,” said John McKay, a veteran member of the Canadian House of Commons, from the ruling Liberal Party. “We were pleased to have not been mentioned once.”
Every four years, the Embassy of Canada, an impressive modern structure overlooking the Capitol and Nation-
CANADA, Page A10

‘The United States will once again consider itself a growing nation, one that increases our wealth, expands our territory . . . and carries our flag into new and beautiful horizons.’

PRESIDENT TRUMP

‘These are exceptional circumstances, and I cannot in good conscience do nothing.’

FORMER PRESIDENT JOE BIDEN, on pardons given to officials targeted by Trump

‘Today is a hard day, especially as an unjust and corrupt administration is sworn into office.’

REV. JAY WILLIAMS, of Union United Methodist Church, Boston

Inauguration features twist in both venue, substance

By Jim Puzzanghera and Tal Kopan
GLOBE STAFF
WASHINGTON — After the violent tumult of four years ago, President Trump's inauguration ceremonies on Monday began as a valiant attempt at normalcy to demonstrate the resiliency of American democracy.
But Trump showed once again he doesn't do normal.
From the rare indoor setting to his grievance-filled speeches and promise of some legally questionable executive orders, Trump began his second-term in a manner that did not appear aligned with the “new spirit of unity” he declared in his inaugural address as he proclaimed “the golden age of America begins right now.”
The surest sign that this Inauguration Day would be unconventional came when outgoing President Biden announced a flurry of pardons to shield lawmakers who investigated the Jan. 6, 2021, riots from any retribution. Then, about 12 hours later, Trump issued sweeping pardons for 1,500-plus people convicted of crimes that day as they sought to overturn his 2020 election loss.
“I was going to talk about the J6 hostages,” Trump told an overflow crowd in the Capitol's Emancipation Hall early
INAUGURATION, Page A6

Massachusetts and the federal Labor Department reached a resolution to a $2.5 billion liability the state's jobless fund owed following the improper use of relief funds for certain claims. D1.

The multiple-rape case against a State Street executive is in danger of falling apart. B1.
“People can barely recognize the crushed places where they used to live,” said one Palestinian among the tens of thousands returning to their devastated Gaza neighborhoods. A3.
Ohio State won the college football national title, outlasting Notre Dame, 34-23. C1.

Bitter battle book
Tuesday: Cold barrels in. High 20-25, low 9-14.
Wednesday: Sunny, cold. High 18-23, low 13-18
Sunrise: 7:07. Sunset: 4:44.
Weather and comics, D5-6.
Obituaries, C8-9.

ANDREW BURKE-STEVENSON FOR THE BOSTON GLOBE

UNITED IN SONG, PURPOSE
Members of the Boston Arts Academy Spirituals Ensemble joined participants as they sang at the 55th annual Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Breakfast Monday at the Omni Boston Hotel in the Seaport. B1, A2.