

My father's cruel jibes at my weight aged seven drove me to anorexia

SEE
PAGE
29

As court blocks North Sea oil projects that could generate billions, Kemi challenges Starmer to take on Miliband & Co

NOW PROVE YOUR 'GROWTH AGENDA' ISN'T ALL HOT AIR

By Jason Groves
Political Editor

KEIR Starmer was under pressure last night to 'get serious' about growth and sign off two North Sea oil fields controversially blocked by the courts.

In the first test of Labour's pledge to make economic growth its 'number one priority', a court in Scotland yesterday ruled that approval of the huge projects by the Conservatives was unlawful.

The decision came after Ed Miliband withdrew government legal support last year for the companies involved in a court battle with environmental campaigners.

Last night the Prime Minister was under pressure to overrule Mr Miliband and give the green light to the Rosebank and Jackdaw projects, which could generate tens of billions of pounds for the British economy.

The Energy Secretary is a long-time opponent of North Sea drilling and previously

Turn to Page 4

Dead at 78, Marianne Faithfull... beauty who bewitched the Stones

SEE PAGES 10-11

