HORMUZ NOW A ‘THEATRE OF WAR’ UNTIL US MEETS DEMANDS: IRAN

Tehran keeps Strait shut; Houthis pressure Saudi Red Sea route

DUBAI

BY STEPHEN N. R.

Iran declared yesterday that the Strait of Hormuz was now a “theatre of war” and would remain effectively closed until the United States accepted Tehran’s demands, raising the stakes in efforts to restore shipping through one of the world’s most important energy corridors.

Iran has throttled traffic through Hormuz since the US and Israel attacked it in late February and has sought to charge vessels for passage.

Iranian security chief Mohammad Bagher Zolghadr on Saturday laid out conditions for reopening the strait, including an end to what Tehran calls aggression against Iran and its allies in Lebanon, Palestine, Yemen and Iraq.

He also demanded the lifting of a US counterblockade of Iranian ports, an end to sanctions, the release of frozen Iranian assets and compensation for wartime damage.

Iran’s Revolutionary Guards hardened that position yesterday, saying the strategy was to maintain the closure “un-

UAE SLAMS IRAN ATTACK ON ADNOC VESSEL

The UAE has strongly condemned and denounced the Iranian attack targeting an Adnoc-affiliated tanker with a missile while it was transiting the Strait of Hormuz. No injuries were reported.

In a statement, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs said the attack constituted a flagrant violation of United Nations Security Council Resolution 2817, which affirms freedom of navigation and rejects attacks on commercial shipping or any disruption to international maritime routes. The ministry stressed that targeting commercial vessels and using the Strait of Hormuz as a tool of pressure or economic coercion amounts to acts of piracy by Iran’s Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps.

Dr Thani Bin Ahmed Al Zeyoudi, Minister of Foreign Trade, underscored the UAE’s grave concerns over Iran’s attacks on commercial shipping and continued closure of the Strait of Hormuz, during the 2026 BRICS Trade Ministers Meeting in Jaipur, India.

Meanwhile, Adnoc said 15 of its vessels have been targeted by missiles and drones since the start of the conflict while transiting the Strait of Hormuz. Adnoc said three vessels were attacked last week alone, resulting in one crew member being killed and 20 others injured.

til the enemy accepts all our conditions”. “The strait is now actually a theatre of war for us and not just a waterway,” the Guards said.

UAE-Russia talks

The developments come as President His Highness Sheikh Mohamed Bin Zayed Al Nahyan and Russian President Vladimir Putin discussed bilateral cooperation and regional and international developments during a recent phone call.

Iran’s Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi, who has also linked reopening Hormuz to Tehran’s conditions being met, denied yesterday that Iran was negotiating directly with Washington. The two sides were merely “exchanging messages” through intermediaries, he said.

Oman’s foreign ministry on Saturday condemned “repeated attacks on vessels transiting the Strait of Hormuz”, without naming Iran, while saying negotiations over navigation arrangements were continuing.

Pressure on Saudi Arabia

The maritime crisis is also spreading west.

As Iran restricts traffic through Hormuz, its Houthi allies in Yemen have declared a parallel blockade targeting Saudi ports and shipping in the Red Sea — the kingdom’s other maritime outlet.

The Houthis said yesterday that they had struck a Saudi oil facility on the Red Sea coast, after Saudi authorities reported extinguishing a fire at the site.

The escalation comes as Riyadh strengthens its regional security framework.

Saudi Arabia, Turkey and Pakistan signed a mutual defence pact on Friday stipulating that an attack against any of them “shall be regarded as an attack against them all”.

Turkey’s foreign minister said on Saturday that he expected Egypt to join the pact, describing Cairo as a “natural partner on all issues”.
