

Chicago Tribune

QUESTIONS? CALL 1-800-TRIBUNE

SATURDAY, APRIL 26, 2025

BREAKING NEWS AT CHICAGOTRIBUNE.COM

THE TRUMP ADMINISTRATION IMMIGRATION

Judge arrested in deportation case

1,200

In the last several weeks, more than 1,200 students nationwide, including several dozen across Illinois, suddenly lost their legal status or had visas revoked, leaving them at risk of deportation. Many said they had only minor infractions on their record or did not know why they were targeted. Some left the country, while others have gone into hiding or stopped going to class.

Illinois schools relieved after legal status of some international students restored

By Zareen Syed, Rebecca Johnson and Carolyn Stein
Chicago Tribune

Academics across the country expressed a mix of relief and skepticism Friday after the Trump administration reinstated the legal status of more than 1,000 international students who had their records terminated in recent weeks.

The announcement came after scores of international students around the U.S. filed court challenges against the Trump administration crackdown, government lawyers said Friday.

Immigration officials said they are developing a new framework for reviewing and terminating visas for international students and agencies would not make additional changes or further revoke visas in the meantime, government lawyers said.

Tricia McLaughlin, assistant secretary for the Department of Homeland

Turn to Students, Page 4

Milwaukee County Circuit Judge Hannah Dugan says her arrest was not made in the interest of public safety. LEE MATZ/MILWAUKEE INDEPENDENT

Milwaukee jurist accused of helping man evade ICE after encounter with agents

By Alanna Durkin Richer, Devi Shastri and Scott Bauer
Associated Press

MILWAUKEE — The FBI on Friday arrested a Milwaukee judge accused of helping a man evade immigration authorities, escalating a clash between the Trump administration and local authorities over the Republican president's sweeping immigration crackdown.

Milwaukee County Circuit Judge Hannah

Dugan is accused of escorting the man and his lawyer out of her courtroom through the jury door last week after learning that immigration authorities were seeking his arrest. The man was taken into custody outside the courthouse after agents chased him on foot.

The judge's arrest dramatically escalates tensions between federal authorities and state and local officials, whom President Donald Trump's administration has

Turn to Arrest, Page 6

CHRIS SWEDA/CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Love(land) at first sight

Tight end Colston Loveland, selected by the Bears with the 10th pick in the first round of the NFL draft, is introduced at Halas Hall on Friday in Lake Forest. Loveland, who grew up in a small Idaho town, said his hands were strengthened as a youth by playing around with — and getting torn up by — barbed wire. Now comes the challenge of ripping up NFL defenses and becoming an impact player for the Bears, who are confident he will be a friendly target for quarterback Caleb Williams and a valuable chess piece for coach Ben Johnson. Draft coverage in Chicago Sports

CHICAGO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Martinez says board still wrests his duties

Ousted CEO claims county court order not being followed

By Nell Salzman
Chicago Tribune

Outgoing Chicago Public Schools chief Pedro Martinez is alleging board members are continuing to usurp and modify his duties, despite a temporary restraining order issued by a Cook County judge in December that prevents them from doing so.

Although Martinez was fired without cause on Dec. 20 he is allowed to stay in his position through mid-June. With one foot out the door and two months before starting a new job, he continues to butt heads with the school board.

Martinez's lawyer filed a motion Thursday saying the judge's order preventing the school board from stripping him of his duties should stand. The motion includes an affidavit from the schools chief claiming that some board members have continued to overstep their bounds in unprecedented ways.

Turn to Martinez, Page 4

ELECTION 2026 US SENATE

Stratton looks for front-runner flag with Pritzker endorsement

By Rick Pearson and Olivia Olander
Chicago Tribune

In front of a crowd of allies outside a Bronzeville church, Democratic Gov. JB Pritzker on Friday endorsed his running mate, Lt. Gov. Juliana Stratton, for the U.S. Senate, a move that could serve as a politically powerful warning to the rest of an emerging field seeking to replace retiring U.S. Sen. Dick Durbin.

Pritzker's announcement, made in the neighborhood where Stratton grew up, comes only two days after Durbin, a Democrat, made public his decision not to seek a sixth term and just one day after the two-term lieutenant governor formally declared her Senate candidacy.

"She governs with a zeal that few elected leaders can match, fueled by her lived experience as her mother's primary caregiver, as a mother herself and as a passionate advocate for people first and foremost," Pritzker said.

With Pritzker's endorsement, Stratton has locked in the backing of the powerful titular head of the state's Democratic Party as she seeks early front-runner status and attempts to preempt a large field of rivals from developing.

Pritzker, a billionaire entrepreneur and heir of the Hyatt Hotels fortune, has used his personal wealth to support state and local Democratic organizations and spent $350 million of

Turn to Stratton, Page 2

Lt. Gov. Juliana Stratton embraces Gov. JB Pritzker on Friday as Pritzker endorsed her for U.S. Senate at a rally outside Bright Star Church Chicago. ANTONIO PEREZ/CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Tariffs hit state's soybean farmers

As President Donald Trump's trade war with China heats up, agricultural experts and soybean insiders worry the market could get worse for farmers. Chicagoland, Page 3

Trump: Keep Crimea with Russia

President Donald Trump wants Russia to keep land, the latest example of how he's pressuring Ukraine to make concessions while it remains under siege. Nation & World

Cubs don't mess with good thing

With the offense clicking, Pete Crow-Armstrong as the leadoff man for the Cubs is not on Craig Counsell's to-do list ... yet, writes columnist Paul Sullivan. Chicago Sports

TODAY'S WEATHER

High 54 Low 39

Complete Chicagoland forecast on Page 8

$4.00 city and suburbs and elsewhere
177th year No. 116 © Chicago Tribune

