

VE Day 80: The nation honours its heroes

THANK YOU!

Picture: MARK LARGE

FROM the Palace balcony to the far end of The Mall, from toddlers to centenarians, the message was as one: Eternal gratitude to those who, in Winston Churchill's words, 'drew the sword against tyranny'.

In May 1945, the Prime Minister had been at George VI's side come that great moment of national

by Robert Hardman

rejoicing – Victory in Europe, forever to be known as VE Day.

Eighty years on, King Charles III was joined by Joy Trew, 98, a great-grandmother from Bristol. The monarch's

Turn to Page 2

Leaning in for a better view: The Prince and Princess of Wales with children George, Louis and Charlotte watch the flypast at Buckingham Palace yesterday