

ELIZABETH ARVELO/WSJ

WSJ

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL WEEKEND

DOW JONES | News Corp  SATURDAY/SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 12 - 13, 2026 ~ VOL. CCLXXXVIII NO. 62 WSJ.com ★★★★★ $6.00

What's News

Business & Finance

- ◆ The annual inflation rate stayed stubbornly hot last month at 3.4%, putting even more pressure on a sharply divided Federal Reserve to raise rates at its meeting in a few days. A1, A6
- ◆ Stocks rebounded and bonds steadied on the inflation report. The S&P 500 rose 0.9% and the Dow and Nasdaq each gained 1%. The yield on the 10-year Treasury note closed at 4.974%, up from 4.943% on Thursday. B10
- ◆ Weil, Gotshal & Manges is set to lose its top dealmaker, Michael Aiello, and five other partners after a number of other top lawyers at the firm recently decamped for competitors. B9
- ◆ Kroger lowered its full-year same-store sales outlook, as shoppers' budget constraints and concerns about cyclospora resulted in lower spending. B9
- ◆ Stellantis is in talks to sell its idled Toronto-area factory, prompting the union representing over 9,000 of its Canadian employees to declare an impasse on talks toward a new labor deal. B9
- ◆ Former OpenAI executive Fidji Simo has joined the board of directors at Nscale, a startup that has raised billions to build data centers for AI, according to a person familiar with the matter. B9

Worldwide

- ◆ America marked a quarter-century since the Sept. 11 attacks at ceremonies honoring the nearly 3,000 people killed in the deadliest terrorist attack on U.S. soil. A1-A3
- ◆ Before Iran carried out a July attack that killed three U.S. troops, Tehran acquired high-resolution satellite images of the base in Jordan from Chinese entities, according to U.S. officials familiar with details of the incident. A1
- ◆ Iran-backed Houthi militants seized a strategic island in the Bab al-Mandeb strait and a coastal town, taking effective control of a key global-shipping chokepoint. A10
- ◆ Saudi Arabia shut a crucial oil pipeline, saying it had been attacked multiple times. A10
- ◆ Republican Sen. Collins is working with the Trump administration officials to try to lessen the impact of the U.S.-Canada trade dispute. A4
- ◆ A CIA official who authorities said walked out of his office with $40 million in gold bars has reached a tentative plea agreement. A8
- ◆ Federal health officials declared the largest cyclospora food-poisoning outbreak in U.S. history over. A4
- ◆ Six Nigerians linked to a network that allegedly swindled American women out of more than $6 million through romance scams will be extradited to the U.S., South African police said. A12
- ◆ A federal court ruled that the Energy Department exceeded its authority when it forced a Michigan coal-fired power to stay open past its scheduled retirement date. A4

PEGGY NOONAN
Pause AI for humanity's sake. A15

CONTENTS	Obituaries..... C6
Books..... C7-12	Opinion..... A13-15
Business & Finance..... B9	Sports..... A16
Design & Decor..... D4	Style & Fashion..... D2
Food..... D3-9	Travel..... D6
Heard on Street..... B12	U.S. News..... A2-4,6,8
Markets..... B10	World News..... A10-12

A Nation Remembers 9/11

JENNAH MOON/REUTERS

Matt Dunleavy and his daughter Ellie joined the crowd at the 9/11 Memorial in Manhattan. Ceremonies were also held at the Pentagon and near Shanksville, Pa.

The 9/11-era presidents are bound by a private bond and a sense of shared burden

By Aaron Zitner

Two weeks after U.S. forces killed Osama bin Laden, then-President Barack Obama dispatched top national security officials to Dallas to brief his predecessor, former President George W. Bush. Over 2½ hours, they laid out the specifics of the military operation that killed the man who directed the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks.

“For Bush, it was fantastic. He wanted to know every detail,” said Michael Morell, a former CIA deputy director who had been with Bush as his intelligence briefer on the day of the attacks. He described Bush as “like a kid in a candy shop.”

Obama’s outreach to Bush was one of the personal gestures showing that Sept. 11 and its aftermath created a sense of shared burden among the men who have held the ul-

Please turn to page A2

Ceremonies honor those killed in 2001 and from illnesses linked to the attacks

By Jack Morphet and Joseph De Avila

The roll call of the dead, each name carrying a pain that 25 years can’t lessen, rang out across the void where 110-stories of steel and concrete and people had stood until terror came to America on Sept. 11, 2001.

The names were read.

Speeches were made. And families and friends made the painful pilgrimages to lower Manhattan, the Pentagon and a field near Shanksville, Pa., as they had every year since nearly 3,000 people were killed when hijackers turned four jetliners into missiles in the deadliest terrorist attack on U.S. soil.

“This ceremony is essential,” said Jim Giaccone, whose brother died in the attacks. “At the very least I get to come here, one day a year, and speak my brother’s name—Joseph Michael Giaccone—out loud, and you hear it, and he is here, and he is present and he is never forgotten.”

*Joseph M. Giaccone
Vincent Francis Giammona
Debra Lynn Gibbon*

The coordinated attacks by Islamic militants under the direction of al Qaeda leader Osama bin Laden launched the U.S. into a quarter-century quest for retribution and justice. Less than a month after the Twin Towers fell, there was the invasion of Afghanistan. It crippled al Qaeda but turned into a prolonged, divisive war.

Please turn to page A3

◆ Declassified intel shows warnings linked to 9/11... A3

U.S. Links Chinese Satellite Images to Iran Attack

Before Iran carried out its attack that killed three U.S. troops in July, Tehran acquired high-resolution satellite images of the base in Jordan from Chinese entities, according to U.S. officials familiar with details of the incident.

By Vera Bergengruen, Shelby Holliday and Anika Arora Seth

It is the clearest evidence so far that Chinese support for Iran during the war has had lethal consequences for U.S. forces, according to the officials, who say the U.S. has connected the imagery to the attack.

The U.S. officials declined to identify the Chinese entities that supplied the imagery to Iran and didn’t allege direct involvement by Beijing. Tehran procured the images both before and after the attack.

But the finding could deepen tensions ahead of the planned summit between President Trump and Chinese leader Xi Jinping in less than two weeks, after months of frustration with Beijing’s rejection of U.S. warnings about Chinese companies providing imagery to Iran.

Please turn to page A10

- ◆ Saudis shut down critical oil pipeline..... A10
- ◆ Houthis tighten grip over Red Sea..... A10

EXCHANGE

THE OFFICE GUIDE

There are new rules for succeeding at work. B1

Chemical Storm vs. Back Seat B.O.: The Battle Over Uber Air Fresheners

Getting into a car can be an aroma assault. Drivers say it’s the better alternative.

By Joseph Pisani

William Hargrave couldn’t believe his nose.

“It was just really overwhelming,” the 25-year-old said of the smell enveloping the Uber he took to the airport. “I don’t struggle with motion sickness, but I was feeling kind of car sick.”

He looked up to find the

Sturdy Inflation Nudges Fed Closer to Rate Hike

By Justin Lahart and Matt Grossman

The annual inflation rate stayed stubbornly hot last month, putting even more pressure on a sharply divided Federal Reserve to raise rates at its meeting in a few days.

The Labor Department said Friday that the inflation rate held steady at 3.4% in August, matching analyst expectations and even with July’s 3.4%. A key measure of underlying price trends, however, came in stronger than expected.

Markets now see a rate increase next week as very likely. Interest-rate futures imply about an 85% chance that the central bank will increase its target range on overnight rates by a quarter percentage point. Before Friday’s report, those chances were about 70%.

“If you don’t raise rates now you better have a damn good story on why you didn’t,” said Omair Sharif, head of advisory firm Inflation Insights.

At the Fed’s latest meeting, in July, when the central bank

Please turn to page A6

- ◆ Fed’s tougher call: Is one hike enough?..... A6
- ◆ Wall Street cheers clarity on Fed outlook..... B10

Consumer-price index, change from a year earlier

Note: Data for October 2025 are unavailable. Core excludes food and energy prices. Source: Labor Department

Nationwide Freakout Over AI Has Started

Rep. Josh Gottheimer was watching his daughter’s field hockey game in northern New Jersey on Thursday when two

By Amrith Ramkumar, Angel Au-Yeung and Lindsay Ellis

parents approached him to air their concerns about artificial intelligence and ask, “What is going on?”

Such questions—from other ordinary people and lawmakers—came again and again this past week to the New Jersey Democrat, who has introduced bills to increase oversight of the technology. They were spurred by a departing Anthropic researcher’s dire warning in The Wall Street Journal on Tuesday that rogue AI systems could destroy civilization. To Gottheimer, a former Microsoft executive who co-chairs a House AI commission, they signaled that stress about AI ending humanity had just crossed a threshold.

“A lot of people sent me

Please turn to page A8

- ◆ Iran targeted ships using Anthropic’s AI..... A10
- ◆ Anthropic IPO poised to top Space X’s debut..... B9