

The TRUTH about cooking oils and the risk of cancer

Why Britain's one of WORST places to have a heart attack

How the Pill DOES make some women put on weight

GOOD HEALTH STARTS PAGE 30

As Andrew-linked China spy is unmasked and IDS warns Beijing has penetrated every level of our economy and institutions...

WHY'S STARMER STILL SUCKING UP TO CHINESE?

By Glen Keogh, George Odling and Martin Beckford

KEIR Starmer yesterday defended fostering closer ties with China – despite being told Beijing has ‘thousands’ of agents who could emulate the alleged spy who befriended Prince Andrew.

The Prime Minister admitted he was ‘concerned about the challenge’ posed by China but doubled down on his policy of ‘engagement’ and ‘co-operating’ with the state.

It came as businessman and former York University student Yang Tengbo was unmasked as an alleged spy who wove a web of influence through the British establishment.

His identity was revealed after the lifting of a court order yesterday – allowing the extent of his activities to be reported for the first time. The development renewed calls on the Prime Minister – who last month met China’s president Xi Jinping in the first face-to-face

ROYAL EXCLUSIVE

How Fergie helped talk Andrew out of going to Sandringham

Turn to Page 6

U-turn? The Duke of York drives out of his Royal Lodge home at Windsor yesterday

SEE PAGE NINE