

Get your Mail+ Christmas Day special edition

Scan this QR code to subscribe to Mail+ Editions – and download the festive special from 11pm tonight

Daily Mail

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 24, 2024

dailymail.co.uk

£1.10 85p to subscribers

KING'S MESSAGE OF NATIONAL HEALING

Charles chooses ex-hospital chapel for speech praising health workers and how nation came together after summer riots

By Rebecca English Royal Editor

THE King's Christmas message tomorrow has been inspired by the way the UK pulled together after the Southport murders and riots.

Charles, 76, will also reflect on a difficult year for his family following two shock cancer diagnoses, as well as others who have suffered in the UK and abroad, particularly the Middle East.

The traditional Christmas Day broadcast has also been filmed 'on location' for only the fourth time in 92 years, it can be revealed.

It will show His Majesty in the exquisite 'hidden gem' of Fitzrovia Chapel, a former sacred space on the site of the demolished Middlesex Hospital where his late wife, Diana, Princess of Wales, opened London's first dedicated Aids ward.

It is part of the King's determination to respect the traditions of his past but bring 'originality, newness and a touch of flair' to

Dictator's wife: UK-born Asma al-Assad with husband Bashar

Does Assad's wife want to divorce him and return to Britain?

SEE PAGE 11

Turn to Page 6