WINTER FUEL HUMILIATION

After huge U-turn, Reeves REFUSES to apologise – bizarrely claiming she'd been 'right' to cut handout

Starmer is ridiculed for suggesting move's now possible because Labour's 'fixed' our stricken economy

DELUDED

LABOUR'S spending plans descended into chaos last night as Rachel Reeves backed down over winter fuel.

The Chancellor said all pensioners with incomes of less than £35,000 will get the payment this winter following a huge public backlash over last year's cuts.

The humiliating climbdown means nine million pensioners will receive the handout – worth up to £300 a household – at a cost of £1.25 billion.

Ms Reeves refused to apologise for the original decision to slash the number of those eligible for the payment – a move which triggered a collapse in Labour's poll rating.

She insisted she had been 'right' to cut the payment last year. And,
