A federal grand jury has refused to indict a Chicago couple arrested during a violent protest outside the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement facility in Broadview last month, a rare move that prompted prosecutors to abruptly drop the case and signals government overreach in bringing the charges in the first place.

After the charges were officially dropped in court Wednesday morning, Richard Kling, the attorney for one of the defendants, called the grand jury’s rejection of the case an “extraordinary happenstance,” especially in Chicago’s federal court.

“I think the grand jurors in the

Trump threatens to jail Ill. leaders

President Donald Trump called for Gov. JB Pritzker and Mayor Brandon Johnson to be jailed Wednesday on social media, a dramatic rhetorical escalation as he tries to flood Chicago with federal agents and National Guard troops from Texas against the wishes of the local elected officials. Chicagoland, Page 3

Citing raid in South Shore, blank warrant forms, ruling may have implications for feds across US

A Chicago federal judge has extended a nationwide consent decree requiring U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement to better document and report probable cause for immigration arrests and found the agency repeatedly violated the 2022 agreement by making “warrantless arrests”

both before and during “Operation Midway Blitz.”

In his 52-page ruling, which has implications for immigration enforcement operations across the country, U.S. District Judge Jeffrey Cummings said ICE had improperly told its field offices over the summer that the consent decree had been canceled.

At DePaul, a mission to spread joy

Soccer player’s death driving team, family

The DePaul men’s soccer locker room was quiet on a warm late September morning in Lincoln Park, the players and coaches out on Wish Field running through a light practice after playing a match a day earlier.

In the middle of a line of white lockers waiting for their owners to return sat one that won’t be disturbed. A blue No. 19 DePaul jersey hung over the locker doors, and a framed photo rested below it.

The player in the photo has his head turned to the left, his mouth open in a wide smile as if laughing with the person next to him.

CAIRO — Israel and Hamas have agreed to the “first phase” of his peace plan to pause fighting and release at least some hostages and prisoners, President Donald Trump said Wednesday in announcing the outlines of the biggest breakthrough in months in the two-year-old war.

“This means that ALL of the Hostages will be released very soon, and Israel will withdraw their Troops to an agreed upon line as the first steps toward a Strong, Durable, and Everlasting Peace,” Trump wrote on social media. “All Parties will be treated fairly!”

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin

Netanyahu said on social media, “With God’s help we will bring them all home.”

Hamas said separately that the deal would ensure the withdrawal of Israeli troops as well as allow for the entry of aid and exchange of hostages and prisoners.

Hamas plans to release all 20 living hostages this weekend, people familiar with the matter told The Associated Press, while
