

FREE £3 shop bet with Paddy Power on any sport today

SEE PAGE 60

Over 18s only. Ex NI. Please Gamble Responsibly. Terms apply.

Daily Mail

dailymail.co.uk

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26, 2024

£1.10 85p to subscribers

SCAN TO SUBSCRIBE
AND SAVE

What six years on 'fat jabs' taught me – and one VERY surprising benefit

by SARAH VINE

Kate's an 'inspiration'
to all cancer
patients

SEE PAGES
6-7

Charles: My heartfelt gratitude to 'selfless' doctors and nurses

In a deeply personal message, the King pays tribute to staff who supported him and family

THE King has offered an emotional thank you to the 'selfless' medics who have supported his family this year.

In his annual Christmas Day broadcast yesterday,

By Rebecca English
Royal Editor

Charles candidly admitted to the 'uncertainties and anxieties of illness'.

The monarch, who has worked throughout his ongoing cancer treatment, gave an unprecedented glimpse into the depths of his personal battle, as well as that of his daughter-in-law, the Princess of Wales.

Charles, 76, has been praised for approaching his diagnosis and treatment with 'not a shred of self-pity', but he felt his speech

Turn to Page 4